COOLIDGE APPEALS TO U.S. PEOPLE TO AID FLOOD VICTIMS

President Calls For Funds For Thousands of Mississippi Refugees

Known Deaths Twenty-eight, But Total May be Much Greater

Washington, April 22—President Coolidge to-day issued a proclamation asking for aid for the sufferers in the areas flooded by the Mississippi River and its tributaries.

Memphis, Tenn., April 22 — Sunshine came into the lives of the refugees in concentration camps that dot the Mississippi Valley to-day as the flood waters moved slowly south. Hickman, Kentucky, temporary home of several thousand homeless people, reported it had "sandbagged" the Mississippi River into submission at the Reelfoot Levee after an all-night fight in a twenty-five-mile wind that had washed waves over the top of the levee. Unless the levee breaks, the bulwark would hold, the workers said.

TOWN FLOODED

Greenville, Miss., laid open to the flood by a break in the Mississippi River at Scott's Landing, eighteen miles above, was invaded to-day by the muddy waters. At 9 o'clock this morning the water began creeping into the ground stores of buildings in the business district. In the residential section the flood varied from one inch to six feet. The water was rising at the rate of three inches an hour. Four thousand refugees from the flood lowlands had come into the city and a food shortage was feared unless new supplies should be brought in.

Livestock driven into the city from the countryside ran wild through the streets to-day.

The city was without train and mail service. Communication was maintained by telephone and telegrahph, but officials feared these might be hampered before the day passed.

More than a thousand persons left the city last night on the last train to run over the Mississippi Valley Railway.

The loss of life in the flood parts of the Mississippi Valley was placed to-day at twenty-eight, but it was impossible accurately to estimate the possible loss in the hundreds of square miles in flooded territory, from which no word had come.

750 HOUSES IN TOWN IN CENTRAL JAPAN BURNED

Tokio, April 22.—Although it was believed at first that many persons had lost their lives in the fire that swept through the town of Kanazawa, in Central Japan, yesterday, reports received to-day indicated there were no casualties. These reports say about 750 houses were burned, the damage being estimated at 4,000,000 yet (about $2,000,000).

The town has a population of 129,000.

EXHIBITS TO CROWD HOME PRODUCTS FAIR

Immense Area of Drill Floor at Armories Pre-empted by Exhibitors

With all space taken and applications being turned away for lack of further room, the Chamber of Commerce committee closed its books to-day on the exhibitors' list for the most progressive exhibition ever prepared here in the interests of the buy-at-home movement.

The Home Products Exhibition, to open at the Armories on Monday, will be the fifth to be staged under the same auspices and this year ushers in a permanent campaign in support of Victoria industries. Over sixty exhibitors are taking part.

The show card contest will remain open until Monday and offers $50 in cash prizes for the best ideas submitted for the permanent drive in support of the movement. Entries may be slogans, signs, drawings or any form of conveying the suggestions desired to be advanced. The object of the contest is to secure ideas from every home in Victoria.

Life, color and action will be featured at the exhibition, for which a strong programme of musical and other entertainment has been prepared. The ownership of the Burleith lot donated by the city to patrons of the show will be decided on Saturday, the closing day, at 9 p.m. All who pass through the doors will be eligible for the choice homesite offer in support of the exhibition.

B.C. TO TEST PLANES IN FIRE FIGHTING

Pattullo to Experiment With Aviation in Forests of Southern Interior

Season's Operations Will Show Effectiveness of New Methods Here

Aeroplanes will be used by the provincial forestry service in the Southern Interior this year to fight forest fires, Hon T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, announced to-day. The season's experiments in aviation, he said, were designed to test out the effectiveness of aeroplanes in fire fighting.

Through arrangements made by the Government with a private concern, two planes will be used in these experiments, one in actual operation and the other in reserve, Mr. Pattullo explained.

The chief use of these planes will be in find fire outbreaks in places where they are not visible in their early stages except from the air, it is expected. By learning of these outbreaks while they are still in their early stages, foresters will be able to fight them more effectively than if they were allowed to grow into serious conflagrations. The new system is expected to prove particularly useful in the Interior lightning belt, where lightning caused numerous fires last Summer.

"The plan we are adopting is more or less experimental to discover exactly how useful aeroplanes can be made," Mr. Pattullo explained. "Our observations will determine, too, in what directions planes are effective for forestry purposes."

NINE IN VANCOUVER CHARGED WITH THEFT

Police Action Follows Report of Losses by Wholesale Grocery Firm

Vancouver, April 22—Arrest of four grocers marked continuation of the police investigation here yesterday of an alleged series of thefts from the wholesale firm of Thompson & Elliott. Two truck drivers, two warehousemen and a shipper had been lodged in custody on theft charges Wednesday evening.

Four of the five men placed in the cells Wednesday night are also at liberty on bail bonds of $3,000 each. They stand remanded until April 29 as well as the quartette arrested last night, who appeared in court to-day, and were remanded until that date.

CALL OLD CHIEF FROM RETIREMENT TO SUCCOR PARTY

Great Petition Presented to Mr. Bowser at Meeting Which Cheers and Sings

The great petition signed by nearly 4,000 Victoria Conservatives, asking W. J. Bowser, former Premier, to forsake his retirement and return to public life as a private member for Victoria, was presented to the venerable leader at an enthusiastic demonstration at the Chamber of Commerce last night.

"When Mr. Bowser withdrew his name from the Conservative leadership contest at Kamloops, it was with the regret of thousands of Conservatives throughout the Province," said E. W. Maynard, who presided.

"To-day in British Columbia there is no more capable, more forceful, more popular political leader, or better fighter than Mr. Bowser. He is not only a fighter, but a constructive thinker and worker," said the chairman.

Mr. Maynard quoted R. H. Pooley's tribute to Mr. Bowser when the temporary Conservative leader in the last session of the Legislature referred to the old chief as the "one who could fight and take a beating without a whimper."

There was prolonged cheering for Mr. Bowser when he stepped to the platform, when the other speakers mentioned his name and when he himself rose to speak.

SAYS BRITAIN AND FRANCE AGREED ON NANKING TERMS

ARISTIDE BRIAND
Foreign Minister of France

POWERS' NOTE TO CANTONESE DRAFTED

British and French in Full Agreement Regarding Nanking Incident, Says Briand

Paris, April 22.—France and Great Britain are in complete accord upon the principles of the five-power reply to be made to Eugene Chen, Cantonese Foreign Minister at Hankow, regarding the anti-foreign outrages at Nanking.

Foreign Minister Briand made this clear to-day after a meeting of the Cabinet. He added, however, that there were several details to be arranged.

The impression prevails in official circles that an agreement of the powers represented in Peking on the joint reply to Chen is awaiting information as to what the United States is going to do.

Alfred Leduc is New Member of Quebec Cabinet

Quebec, April 22.—Announcement was made by Premier Taschereau this morning that Alfred Leduc, a prominent business man of Montreal, would be taken into the Quebec Cabinet without portfolio. At the same time the Premier announced Mr. Leduc would be the Liberal candidate in St. Henri, Montreal.

RADIO VANDAL IN VANCOUVER HUNTED

Charge Made Noise Which is Ruining Reception is Deliberately Caused

Vancouver, April 2.—"The noise which has practically ruined radio reception in Greater Vancouver for months past is, in my belief, being deliberately caused by some person seeking to destroy entertainment," said G. W. Hubbard, president of the Greater Vancouver Radio Association, here to-day. "The radio inspector, with the aid of a specially equipped truck, will endeavor to locate the trouble, which has baffled him up to the present."

Mr. Hubbard pointed out that during the World War a machine was used by the Germans which obliterated radio reception, and stated one person could ruin all radio entertainment in Vancouver. Members of the association reported the noise had been heard over a wide area, extending as far as Powell River, Nanaimo and New Westminster.

CARLOW'S LAWYER GLAD TO GET RID OF HIS CHARGES

Sinnott Says He Could See Little in Allegations Against Prominent Liberals

Pooley Was to Finance Carlow Suit But Plan Failed, Commissioner Told

P. J. Sinnott, formerly solicitor for Frank Carlow, told Mr. Justice Morrison's Royal Commission this morning that he had come to the conclusion that Carlow's claims against prominent Liberals were insufficient for a successful legal case. In fact, Mr. Sinnott testified, he had been "glad to get rid" of Carlow's affidavit and other documents, on which charges against the Government in the present inquiry are based.

With this revelation of the opinion of Carlow's own solicitor it was stated in evidence at this morning's session of the Commission that R. H. Pooley, Opposition Leader, was to loan Carlow $500 or $1,000 to finance him and his case against Henry C. Hall here for money which he claims ed as Liberal organizer. This arrangement had collapsed, however, Carlow testified.

Most of this morning's session was occupied with cross-examination of Carlow, who was still on the stand when adjournment was taken for luncheon.

CARLOW CONTINUES

Carlow was called to the stand again when the commission opened and questioned by J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., counsel for members of the Government.

He refused to admit at the outset that a document filed by Mr. Farris was a true copy of the original affidavit he swore out in preparation for a civil suit with P. J. Sinnott as his solicitor. This was drafted long in advance of the affidavit used by Carlow in his present charges. Discussion of this document was postponed until Mr. Sinnott could be called. Meanwhile Mr. Farris went on with his cross-examination.

Carlow was asked whether Joshua Hinchliffe, M.P.P., was solicitor for the Sunset Company, which was trying to sell a highway device to the Government. He replied that Mr. Hinchliffe was solicitor for the company and stuck to this assertion after Mr. Farris had recalled that Mr. Hinchliffe had denied in the House

ATLANTIC PLANES ARE GIVEN TESTS

Two Crews in U.S. and Two in France Preparing For Flights For Prize

New York, April 22—Four aeroplanes on flying fields in the United States and France were undergoing final priming to-day before hopping off on their projected 3,600-mile flights across the Atlantic.

As daily tests bring the machines nearer perfection, starts by two of the planes seem possible at any time within the next few days.

The Bellanca monoplane which recently set a new world endurance record was reported to-day to be ready to start as soon as it was loaded, while reports from Paris said Captain Charles Nungesser, famous French flier, was awaiting only favorable weather.

The Bellanca plane is undergoing final tests at Curtiss Field, N.Y. Meanwhile Commander Noel Davis at Langley Field, Va., is conducting daily tests with his plane, "American Legion."

While the United States teams pushed preparations, Captain Nungesser and M. Drouhin carried on their work preliminary to projected flights from Paris to New York.

Drouhin's preparations have been made in secret and it is not known how near he may be to a starting date.

The Orteig prize for which the men are contesting is $25,000.

RYAN FIRM WILL BUILD PRINTING BUREAU IN CITY

Contracts For New Quarters For King's Printer and Staff Awarded

Construction to Start Immediately to Relieve Office Congestion

Construction of the new Government Printing Building at the southwest corner of Government and Superior Streets will commence immediately, following the award of the building contract to-day to the Ryan Construction Company.

The Ryan Company's bid of $111,000 was the lowest received. The other tenderers in the order of their tenders were: Carter Hall Hodgson, King and Marble, and Parfitt Brothers. The bid of Parfitt Brothers, the only local firm tendering, was considerably in excess of the other tenderers.

Tenders were submitted on different forms of construction, including the use of stone. On a stone building the Ryan Construction Company filed a bid of $118,000, this being the lowest tender received. All the Compuany's tenders on the three different forms of construction proposed were lower than those of other bidders. Final decision on the type of construction to be followed has not been reached yet.

ELECTRICAL CONTRACT

The contract for extensive electrical work in the building was awarded to Hume & Rumble of New Westminster, on a bid of $10,800. The bid of Hawkins & Hayward, the only local tenderers, was several thousand dollars in advance of this sum.

Following the award of these contracts, construction of the new building to house the Printing Bureau under Charles Banfield, the King's Printer, will start immediately. The bureau will move into its new quarters some time in the Fall, when a general re-adjustment of offices in the main Parliament Buildings will follow, relieving present acute congestion in some departments.

CARLOW SAYS TWIGG OFFERED HIM LARGE SUM FOR CHARGES

Twigg Wanted to Pay $1,000 But Proposal Was Refused, Commission Told

How H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., had offered him $1,000 for his charges against the Oliver Government, how he had refused his proposal and how he had volunteered to drop his allegations if he were given Government liquor orders was told by Frank Carlow before Mr. Justice Morrison's Royal Commission yesterday. Mr. Twigg, it developed, had prepared the Carlow affidavit, which went before the Legislature, after conferences between Carlow, R. H. Pooley, R. C. Lowe and Dr. Clem Davies.

This information was elicited from Carlow in a rigorous cross-examination which lasted all afternoon and embroiled opposing counsel in recurring wrangles over evidence. In the end the commission adjourned until this morning while Government counsel examined a large file of documents filed by Carlow but not read.

A leading feature of the day's testimony by Carlow was his statement that M. B. Jackson, K.C., had not profited through the Vancouver foreshore deal which forms a prominent feature of Carlow's allegations. Mr. Jackson had frowned on this transaction, Carlow testifed, and had not received anything as a result of it.

SUGGESTED BY LOWE

When Carlow resumed the witness stand at the opening of the afternoon session, he was cross-examined by J. B. Pattullo, K.C., council for members of the Government. Witness told how he had dictated his affidavit in the office of Moresby, O'Reilly and Lowe, Victoria solicitors. Mr. Lowe, he said, had suggested to him that he should make public these facts for the good of the Liberal Party. Only Harry Langley, a public stenographer, was present when the affidavit was dictated but R. H. Pooley, H. D. Twigg and Rev. Clem Davies were in an adjoining room at Mr. Lowe's suggestion.

JAPAN TO HAVE MORATORIUM TILL MAY 13

Government Decides on That Measure to Overcome Growing Financial Panic; Diet Is to Meet May 3 in Five-day Special Session at Which Further Stabilization Steps Will Be Determined; Banks in Osaka, Kobe and Kyoto Closed Following Runs

Tokio, April 22 — A twenty-one-day moratorium throughout Japan was decided upon by the Privy Council this afternoon because of the financial crisis.

The Cabinet also announced that a special five-day session of the Diet had been called, to begin May 3, for discussion of the financial situation of the country.

Since the beginning of the financial depression, about the middle of March, it is estimated thirty banks have suspended operations. The total deposits affected are reported in the neighborhood of about $450,000,000, but accurate details of the suspensions have not been learned, owing to the reticence of the Finance Department.

Business and commercial stagnation is expected during the period of the suspension of payments and the department stores and other businesses are preparing for a heavy loss of trade.

BANKS CLOSED DOWN

Osaka, Japan, April 22—All banks in Osaka, Kobe and Kyoto were closed to-day following presistent runs yesterday. Business generally was paralyzed.

Local bankers assert the banking structure is fundamentally sound and no alarm is called for. They accuse politicians at Tokio of making a mountain out of a mole hill in connection with the affairs of the Bank of Taiwan. The political crisis which resulted from the bank's suspension, they say, created uneasiness, causing a run on the banks. Under the circumstances, however, the local bankers assert, a moratorium may solve the crisis.

Since it took its present acute form the financial depression in Japan has been said by a majority of responsible business and banking leaders to have had its origin in the great earthquake catastrophy of 1923. In addition to the great loss of life in that disturbance, the destruction of property was so great in the aggregate that the business and industrial world of Japan, despite the evidence of strength given by the work of reconstruction, has never regained its former normal basis.

RULE WOULD BAR WORKERS FROM U.S.

Washington Orders Identification Cards For People Crossing Detroit River

Workers of Canadian Birth Not Affected, But Many Others Are

Washington, April 22. — United States immigration agents were instructed to-day by Secretary Davis of the Labor Department to regard aliens regularly crossing the border as immigrants, and to issue identification cards to such of them as might qualify for regular admission.

APPEAL TO OTTAWA

Windsor, Ont., April 22.—The Border City mayors, at public meeting here last night, dispatched a telegram to Premier King urging the Federal Cabinet to take steps at once to cause a postponement of a ruling made by the United States Department of Labor which will bar all workers, except those of Canadian birth, from entering Detroit for labor purposes.

If the change is made it will be the means of throwing out of work thousands of borderites now holding jobs in Detroit.

NOTIFICATION AWAITED

Ottawa, April 22.—Efforts to clarify the situation regarding immigration which has arisen at the Detroit-Windsor border will be taken by Federal authorities as soon as details of the new regulations to be put into force June 1 next by the United States immigration authorities have been communicated to the Government. No official notification of the new regulations has been received here.

CHIANG'S TROOPS MOVING AGAINST NORTHERN CHINESE

Resumption of Military Campaign Indicated by Efforts in Yangtse Region

Shanghai, April 22.—Radio messages from Chinkiang to-day said many troops apparently were preparing for an attack on the north bank of the Yangtse River. This, together with the landing on the north bank yesterday of a large number of troops from Nanking, tends to confirm the reports that General Chiang Kai-Shek, leader of the Moderate section of the Nationalists, has resumed his campaign against the Northerners.

FIRING AT PUKOW

Batteries in the vicinity of Lyon Hill, Nanking, are reported in a wireless dispatch to have fired heavily throughout yesterday on Pukow, which is held by Northern troops. Pukow is on the northern and Nanking on the southern bank of the Yangtre River.

Foreign buildings in Chinkiang have been occupied by Nationalist troops. Eleven foreign ships left Chinkiang to-day, convoyed by naval vessels.

EQUAL RATE FOR VICTORIA ON P.G.E.

Efforts of Transportation Committee of Commerce Chamber Reap Reward

A factor of considerable importance to all shippers to inland points in British Columbia is now settled in favor of Victoria, on the question of favorable P.G.E. freight rates.

In an announcement made to-day the transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce report success has attended efforts to secure equal freight rates for Victoria shippers over the Provincial road to those granted Mainland shippers. Credit for his able support of the application was given to the Premier, the Hon. John Oliver, whose support of Victoria's claim carried the issue to success.

With equality of rates established Victoria shippers will be able to get their goods into the interior parts of the Province served by the P.G.E. railway on a basis that will permit of successful competition with other interests. The success meeting the Chamber's efforts will be felt generally throughout the city, and will in some cases lead to a considerable extension of business that was before retarded.

MANY DIFFICULTIES OVERCOME TO MAKE FESTIVAL A SUCCESS

By MRS. J. O. CAMERON

When I was asked to write something of the way the Musical Festival impressed me, it was almost equivalent to calling upon an architect to explain the feeling of pride he might have in seeing the splendid house he had helped to plan all finished and ready to be occupied. Not that I feel any more responsible for the idea or its execution than the many others who have contributed to its success.

If adjudicators could be had for the asking; if there were no other expenses in connection with the festival I would not have felt obliged to look at this wonderful event with an anxious mind, wondering how it would turn out financially. The response from the public on the first day of the festival scattered all anxiety on this score and has demonstrated the fact that Victoria may well be called a music-loving city.

It would be impossible to praise too highly the efforts of those who are responsible for the inception and the ultimate success of this festival, the first of its kind ever held in Victoria. It has been rather uphill work, and a great many difficulties had to be overcome. We have been very fortunate in having as the first president a man like Mr. J. G. Brown. He has been the right man in the right place, even when acting as elevator man on the committee meeting night, which by the way have been frequent and long. Mr. Brown makes an ideal president and I hope he will be kept in office as long as he will serve in the capacity as head of the association.

It is hard to realize the actual amount of detail work to be done in connection with an affair of this kind, and it kept the whole committee quite busy, and very anxious right up to the time of the first event. As it was the first year of the festival, and several members of the executive had no knowledge of how a musical festival should be run, there were a few details at the beginning that were not as craefully worked out as they might have been, but on the whole there was not a great deal of confusion, and when the school children came trooping in by the dozen we felt that it all was very worth while.

I hope it will not be put down to my credit as something very wrong when I confess to having told each school choir as they trooped past the room where all the trophies were that I hoped they would win the shield. They were so full of hope and confidence and in such a happy mood, and I hope the arena will be packed on Saturday night when the massed school choirs will sing, with Dr. Broome conducting.

Next to hearing the young boys in the solo class and the little girl mezzo-soprano, the National Anthem as conducted by Dr. Broome at the close of the evening session was for me one of the most inspiring moments of the day. Dr. Broome believes in singing "God Save the King" with spirit, and heartily, and not in the almost dirgelike tempo usually accorded it.

Being treasurer of an association has its drawbacks, and not the least of these was the work that had to be done while the competitions and the adjudicating were on.

I heard enough of the adjudicator's reports to convince me that a local adjudicator is not necessary to the success of a festival. He could not do his duty and go on living in the place.

We are told right in the beginning that the real object of a musical festival is not so much for the purpose of winning as for the help to be gained by or from constructive criticism and "to pace one another on the road to excellence," and the adjudicators of this festival seem to have that in mind in all they say to the contestants. The appreciation of this was shown very clearly by the perfectly satisfied manner of the boys who were defeated in their class and also by the remark of a contestant who lost by a very small margin that she wished she could try it again to-morrow. These things are the great benefits resulting from a competition of this kind.

All the contestants are not as good losers as the ones I have quoted, but it should have the effect of making every soloist, choir and other organization work all the harder for the next festival. The events for the second day of the festival promises to be very interesting in every way.

There are thirty-five contestants in one class in elocuton, thirteen schools competing for the Arion Club shield in the senior class, twenty-one in the open piano class, fifteen in the contralto solo class and each place where the competitions are being held, if the first day is any indication of what is to be expected, will be crowded.

Just as the work for the day was over and the helpers were leaving to have a short rest before the evening session began, the Courtney Girls' Choir and the Boys' Band from the same place came marching down the street, and we forgot we were tired and stopped to have a chat with these young folks who were entertained at dinner by the young people's club of the First United Church. The band is the only junior band to enter, but the girls will have to compete with three other choirs.

It is impossible not to enthuse over the festival, and it is to be hoped that almost everyone will attend one or more of the sessions. No matter what else may come up in the course of the competitions the most lasting impression will be, I think, that of the long lines of children marching in and taking their places in such orderly fashion, and singing so well, and each one wanting to win the shield for his particular school. And I wish that each school could have something to encourage them to keep on trying.

Yacht on Museum Expedition Will Call at Victoria

San Francisco, April 22.—The auxiliary schooner yacht Northern Light, bearing members of the Borden-Field Museum Expedition on a hunting trip into the Arctic, moved out through the Golden Gate yesterday and heading northward, unfurled her canvas before favorable winds. Her first stop will be at Victoria, B.C., thence to Juneau, Alaska.

During the next six months the Northern Light is to travel along the Alaskan Coast as far north as a line connecting Point Barrow, Alaska, and Wrangel Island, off the shores of Asia.

CONCERT SATURDAY CLOSES FESTIVAL

Choir of Senior Public School Voices Will Sing at Arena

To-morrow evening's concert at the Willows Arena will bring to a close Victoria's first Musical Festival which so far has proved successful beyond the directors' fondest hopes. The programme will commence at 7 o'clock with a choir of senior public school voices conducted by Dr. Broome, one of the adjudicators. This will be followed by a vocal solo selected from the festival winners by the adjudicators and the winner of the ladies' choral competition.

His Honor, the Lieut.-Governor of British Columbia will address the assembly prior to the male voice choir contest. Two choirs are entered in this class, the Arion Club and the Victoria Male Voice Chorus, and competition is very keen. The first-named choir is out to add to its already long list of successes, while the latter organization which has only been in existence for a few months and is more or less of a dark horse, hopes to become possessor of the K. of P. shield.

BAND CONCERT

A big attraction will be the band contest in which five aggregations have entered. Four are local bands and well-known here, the Fire Department Band, City Temple Prize Band, 16th Canadian Scottish and Fifth Regiment Bands, while the Vancouver Parks Band will be over. The trophy for this competition is the Fletcher Brothers' Cup.

Percy A. Campbell has been appointed adjudicator of the band classes and has considerable experience behind him. He was born in Nebraska City, Nebraska, and sang in church entertainments when only four years of age, taking up the cornet when eight years old under the tuition of L. Huckins, protege of the late Sir Dan Godfrey.

ONLY TWO UNBOBBED GIRLS IN BEAUTY COMPETITION FOR TITLE OF "MISS VICTORIA"

Two sisters are competing for the title of "Miss Victoria" and the valuable prizes that go with the winning of the beauty contest which will be staged here at the Dominion Theatre next week, preparatory to the selection of "Miss Canada" to represent this country at the International beauty contest at Galveston.

The two sisters are Miss Joan Wright and Miss Marjorie Wright.

One of the interesting features about the two Wright sisters is that they are the only two long-haired girls in the competition. Judging from the beauties which will go up for public inspection and approval next week, the proportion of unbobbed girls runs about one in nine.

The Misses Wright are both dark, of a vigorous type with bright flashing eyes. Joan has been a victor in a contest before, as she was chosen May Queen of Sidney three years ago.

The two girls are talented and musical, too. Miss Joan was the one who sang last night at the Chamber of Commerce demonstration for Mr. Bowser.

They were born in England, but have spent most of their lives out here. For a while they lived up the West Coast, but a few years ago they moved to Victoria district.

LEGATION BUILDINGS

Washington, April 22.—The Washington Post said editorially yesterday that the decision of the Canadian Government to acquire a legation building in Washington was a testimonial of Canada's faith in the future which promised to perpetuate the close friendship of neighbors who had lived as equals in peace and concord for more than a century. "The United States should not be slow in following Canada's example," The Post said. "There should be erected at Ottawa an imposing and commodious structure adequate to the needs of the United States legation for the next half century or longer."

Vessels Crippled On Great Lakes by Following Storm

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 22.—A search is now being conducted for the wooden package freighter Delaware of the Great Lakes Transit Company, Buffalo, upbound, which reported she was aground two miles west of Squaw Island, near the Straits of Mackinac, Tuesday night. The vessel went ashore in the big blow which swept the lakes following some twenty-four hours of foggy weather.

The steamer Bricoldoc of the Patterson Steamship Company, while downbound, lost its rudder in the gale and was rescued Wednesday night by the tug General. The General has also released barge 137, which broke away from the steamer James Eades.

City Temple Hall (Carl Denton adjudicating)—Class 23, pianoforte, primary. Test piece: "Sonatina in G Major" (Beethoven). In his remarks following this competition, in which there were forty-eight entrants, Mr. Denton said he had decided to have seven of the players repeat their performance Friday morning. He said how much could be gained by preparation. It was not, after all, those who won prizes who became the most famous. The plodder will surely get there eventually, and make his name in the world.

Class 25—Pianoforte senior, under nineteen, preliminary and final is as new stated. First, Ralph Richards of Portland, Ore.; second, Marguerite Devlin; third, Olive Heal. Test piece, "La Fileuse," Op. 157, No. 7 (Raff). Portland entrant wins the silver medal donated by Mrs. McGovern.

Dr. Broome said he was disappointed at the Bach number, and cautioned the singers as to the stateliness of Bach's music. Both he and Mr. Morgan were disappointed at the rendering of the Bach number by all the competing choirs. Mistakes in many of the notes were made by some of the singers, of course a very grave error on the part of members of most choirs.

Class 16, vocal solo, tenor, preliminary only; finals (four competitors)—First, Frank L. Tupman; second, G. H. Llewellyn; third, C. Blogg.

Test piece, "In the Silence of the Night" (Rachmaninoff), winner of the Jackson Hanby gold medal. Adjudicated by Graham Morgan.

This proved a thrilling contest, Mr. Tupman carrying off honors with ninety-two marks, superseding Mr. Llewellyn, who at the afternoon session overtopped him by six marks, by one mark only. Mr. Blogg tied with the second placed singer with ninety-one marks also.

Ralph Richards of Portland, Ore., the winner in Class 25, pianoforte senior, played the competition number, "La Fileuse."

Test pieces, "Soul of the World" (Purcell); "How Sweet the Moonlight," unaccompanied, (Leslie). Adjudicators, Dr. Broome and Graham Morgan, congratulated the selections chosen by the committee, emphasizing the beauties of Purcell's music, and the revival of this English composer and others of centuries ago at the present moment. After a few critical and praiseworthy remarks on the excellent singing of this choir allotted this body of singers 176 marks out of a possible 200, saying it sent them home with a good taste in their mouths. The evening's proceeding concluded with the National Anthem. Dr. Broome conducting the singers and large audience.

TROOPS HUNT BANDITS WITHOUT SUCCESS

Band Which Killed Train Travelers in Jalisco, Mexico, Still at Large

Mexico City, April 22 — Searching for the bandits or revolutionaries who, last Wednesday, destroyed a railroad train and killed about 100 passengers and soldier train guards, large numbers of federal troops continued to comb the state of Jalisco to-day. As yet, however, no report of success in the hunt has reached here.

The troops are being assisted by aeroplanes.

STATEMENT DENIED

Mexico City, April 22.—Roman Catholic circles in Mexico continue to make denial of the Government's charge that the Catholic episcopate was behind the Jalisco train outrage of Tuesday night and that Catholic priests were on the scene.

The charge prompted Archbishop Ruiz y Flores to break his long silence last night when in a statement in behalf of the Catholic episcopate he declared that if Catholic priests participated in the attack the church had no knowledge of it and had no connection with it.

"We hasten to deny that assertion that the band which attacked the train was organized by the Catholic episcopate," the statement said. "The Government, in its various searches of Catholic headquarters, had been unable to find proof of Catholic plans for an armed rebellion. The mission of the church is not to overthrow governments, but it will urge reform of laws which are violating the liberties God has given men."

Behind the platform a banner carried in large letters these words:

Tolmie Our "Leader"—Bowser Back Again.

The word "leader" in the first line was set off in quotation marks.

On the platform were E. B. Plunkett, president of the Victoria Conservative Association; Fred Elliott, president of the Sir John A. Macdonald Club, and Pat Sinnott, president of the McBride Conservative Club. None of the four city Conservative members were present.

Leonard Tait, who made the presentation address to Mr. Bowser, said he wanted to nail as a lie the propaganda spread by certain persons that there was Liberal money behind the "Bring Back Bowser" petition.

"Such a suggestion is senseless, when you would have a combination of Dr. Tolmie and Mr. Bowser, a thing the Liberals fear," Mr. Tait went on. "Mr. Bowser has told me that he accepts Dr. Tolmie's leadership."

Mr. Tait declared he felt it fitting that as well as an honor that he should be called upon to present the petition to Mr. Bowser as he was one of the old guard Conservatives.

"Hon. S. F. Tolmie in his cabinet will meet intricate problems, and a man of Mr. Bowser's experience will be of inestimable value in the cabinet and in the House and will strengthen Dr. Tolmie's hands to a considerable degree," he went on.

ROYAL COMMISSIONS

Referring to some of the activities of the persons in charge of the Conservative Party, Mr. Tait said:

"Royal commissions to my mind in British Columbia are a complete farce. I don't know whether the ones now on will come to anything or not."

As for Attorney-General Manson in the present Liberal Government, Mr. Tait declared that he was incapable. The other two attorneys-general in office since the Liberals have been in power, Mr. Tait asserted they had been dismissed.

"The story of these dismissals is most nauseating, when you consider that these were men who were false to their oaths of office," he went on.

"I believe he would make a very worthy representative for the city of Victoria, the best man we have. We feel certain we could elect him with a rousing majority, probably the biggest any man has ever had in the city of Victoria."

He then referred to the fact that Mr. Bowser had had twenty-one years' continuous service in the Legislature and the record of nine years as Attorney-General.

"From all over the Province the cry comes for Bowser to come back, he continued. "He sacrificed his own personal ambitions for the good of his party. It was a hard blow to his supporters when he withdrew from the leadership contest in the interests of his party. Therefore Mr. Bowser is worthy of consideration by everybody in the Province."

Mr. Tait declared that, following a letter he wrote to a Vancouver newspaper about bringing Mr. Bowser back, he had been receiving letters from all parts of the Province endorsing the movement.

HIS DUTY TO COME BACK

"Dr. Tolmie stands in need of a man such as Mr. Bowser," he added. "Mr. Bowser must come back; it is his duty."

"When I listen to the very eulogistic remarks about myself here this evening, I wonder whether I am the same W. J. Bowser on whom the Grits have made so many attacks," Mr. Bowser said, when during his reply, and after the cheering and singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" had died down.

"I also wonder whether he is the same W. J. Bowser against whom so many Conservatives lined up at the Kamloops convention."

Mr. Bowser declared that in his retirement he felt like one of the old retired fire horses, waiting for the gong.

"I did my duty at Kamloops as I had done it before, and during the Winter, for the first time in thirty-five years, I was able to take a trip with my wife," Mr. Bowser said.

"This is one time when I have to think seriously what course of action I should take.

"I have lived here for fifteen years and every year I have lived in Victoria I like it more, and it would be a great honor to represent this city in the Legislature.

"I hold a different opinion of Victoria from what the present Attorney-General does when he says that Victoria was noted for its tea drinking and its golf playing. As far as golf goes, I am one of those who hopes to be able some day to go around the Victoria course at Oak Bay in less than 100, and when I do that my head will swell up greater than that of the present Attorney-General.

"If I were to consider my own personal pleasure, I would at once say not to this petition.

LEADERSHIP AMBITION GONE

"I feel seriously and sincerely the duty I owe to the party. As far as my leadership ambition goes, it is gone. I see that I have too much opposition in our ranks to lead the party.

"No one in B.C. is more loyal to Dr. Tolmie than I. But I can quite see why people should think that Dr. Tolmie, who has had no experience in Provincial affairs, should be surrounded with men who have had experience.

"I must think seriously of the effect my return would have on the Conservative Party. I still have enemies in the Conservative ranks—for what reason, I do not know.

"Is it worth while, at my age, I ask myself, to undertake this duty which you press upon me, when many of the rank and file do not want to see me returned to public life."

Mr. Bowser declared that for these reasons he could give no public answer at this time, but must give the whole matter more consideration. He also declared that it would not be proper to give a decision until nearer an election, as he did not know what his health and affairs would be like then.

"But if I decide to accept, it must be understood that my name would be submitted to a Conservative convention with the names of all other possible candidates," he went on. "I have always been nominated by a convention, and it is too late now for me to forsake that policy. I must also consider the wishes of my leader."

HEARD IT IN CALIFORNIA

Mr. Bowser asserted that the first he learned of the Bring Back Bowser movement and the petition was when he read about it in copies of The Victoria Times, which he saw at his hotel in Pasadena. He said that The Times was the only newspaper in Victoria that made any mention of the movement or the petition that was in circulation.

"It may have been that if I have been in the ranks of the opposition during the last session that certain things would not have taken place there that did take place," he also said.

This statement was greeted with an outburst of applause.

"If the Conservative Party had more of a development policy and less of muckraking and mud-slinging, our party would now be in better shape," he continued. "The day for Royal Commissions has gone. What people want is a sensible policy that will develop our country and keep at home our own boys and girls."

The testimonial embodied on the petition and its presentation was a compliment from the citizens of Victoria that could not be treated lightly, he asserted.

"I have always done my duty to the party as I have seen it, and I do not want to do anything that will create the last difficulty for our new leader," he continued. "When I come to a decision, you can rest assured that it will be in the interests of the Province and of the great Conservative Party."

Miss Joan Wright, the Sidney May Queen; J. C. Robertson, Mrs. P. J. Sinnott and Miss Iona Robertson took part in the musical programme. An orchestra played during the evening.

HONORS FOR AGRICULTURISTS

Winnipeg, April 22.—Referring to the place of the soldier in history Dean W. G. McKillican of Manitoba Agricultural College, declared at the afternoon session of the Manitoba Education Association yesterday that he would "reduce the soldier's stature and change his role from that of hero to villain, responsible for the deaths of millions of his fellow man." He said he would replace the soldier hero with new heroes drawn from the agricultural world, such as the originators of the "new varieties," and make history a record of such things as "when wheat was first used by man" and which countries have been the first food producers."

HELP THE T.B. VETERAN

AT THE STREET CORNERS TO-MORROW taggers will draw the attention of the public to the needs of the Tuberculous Veterans' section of the Canadian Legion with full confidence that the same generosity which they have shown in the past will be repeated. The organization has set out the special object of this appeal as follows:

1. Maintenance of club, and rest rooms situated at Langley and Yates Streets.
2. Helping needy cases whose pensions are entirely inadequate, or who are not in receipt of pension.
3. Tuberculous veterans in hospital who are not receiving D.S.C.R. pay and allowances and who are helped from time to time.
4. Expense incurred in giving lectures, on the "Ravages of Tuberculosis," staged by the T.V.A. for the benefit of the public.

It should be explained that this section of the Legion is obliged to depend upon its membership fees for the conduct of its affairs; but fifty per cent. of these, incidentally, must be paid to headquarters as the per capita tax. Unlike some other organizations, moreover, the Tuberculous Veterans do not operate a canteen, the returns from which, of course, are a steady source of revenue.

We bespeak for these ex-service men a very generous response from the people of Victoria to-morrow. The T.B. veteran is in a disability class which is quite distinct from all other classes. It is a difficult matter to frame legislation to meet his case in an adequate manner. Dr. King, Minister of Health and Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, declared in the House of Commons at Ottawa just before prorogation that he had instructed the officials of his Department to call a meeting of experts on tuberculosis in order that the veterans might state their cases directly.

In the meantime, however, many pressing needs can not be met in an adequate manner. For that reason it is necessary for the organization to appeal to the public for funds.

THE PRESS IN CHINA

IT IS COMMON KNOWLEDGE THAT the British cause in China has been poorly served by secular newspapers published and edited in that country by British subjects and printed in English. Commenting on this, The New Outlook, issued under the authority of the United Church of Canada, says that The North China Daily News in particular continues to deserve this rebuke, and goes on to say that "the virulence with which it seeks to provoke bloodshed would suggest that the city must be safe from the troops and people against whom its venom is directed. Canadians should be in a peculiarly good position to judge of this paper, for long ago it vented its spleen upon the people of Szechwan whom Canadians know better than they do most Chinese. 'The cowardly Szechwanese' is the epithet applied by this paper in reporting events last Fall at Wanhsien. This offensive term was used in reporting the clash between British sailors and Szechwanese troops at that place."

The heaping of epithets, like the "sticking out of the tongue," continues The Outlook, "may be a childish form of activity; but the matter becomes serious when the newspapers of the Western world report as coming from a reliable source the latest allegations of that paper regarding 'atrocities' at Nanking. We do not know whether there were atrocities or not. And we are not any the more inclined to believe there were any just because The North China Daily News says there were."

Quite rightly are we reminded that a stream does not rise higher than its source, and, if this truculent, arrogant and spiteful journalism of the Treaty ports is to be the spring from which the West is to slake its thirst for information about China, then the people of the Western nations have a poor chance of keeping any balance in their attitude toward China.

THE FALLACIES OF PROTECTION

PROTAGONISTS AND OPPONENTS OF the Safeguarding of Industries Act in Great Britain are still waging a verbal war on the platform and in the newspapers. Liberals say the protectionist appears to think he has proved his case if he shows that after the imposition of a "safeguarding" duty there are more people employed in the industry which has been subsidized.

When Mr. Amery spoke in Worcester the other day he told his audience that unemployment had been reduced in the gloving industry. His critics return to the fray with the suggestion that this is far from covering the whole result of what "is nothing more than a fiscal trick that apparently satisfies a single set of circumstances." One anti-protectionist says that "compared with this time last year—from the returns issued by the local Labor Exchange—it will be discovered that there are eighty-seven fewer unemployed (men, women, girls and boys) than there were in Worcester this time last year. In the previous week the return was not so good, forty-five fewer being employed. These fluctuations are rather mysterious. What part does the Safeguarding of Industries Act play in this? A number of the unemployed (310) also appear to be working on short time, just as (one supposes) a number of the employed are."

It is obvious that there can be no interference with the course of trade without disturbance, confusion and loss that may not always be appreciated by exponents of artificial so-called stimulants. There might even be more persons making gloves under the form of protection which the Safeguarding Act affords; but it stands to reason that an effective import duty must be reducing employment in other directions. When Great Britain is exporting less, she must be importing less, and, consequently, re-exporting less.

Many students of political economy are pointing out that in certain important particulars the effect which the Safeguarding of Industries Act is having upon imports must be very disappointing to the authors of the duty. The gloving industry obviously is not a good advertisement for the Government. Despite the tariff, Britain used more foreign fabric gloves in 1926 than in 1924 and more in January-February of this year than in the corresponding months of last year. All the same the purpose of the tariff is to reduce imports of these goods, which are made of material prepared in the Old Country for the manufacturers of Saxony; consequently Bolton is complaining that the tariff on fabric gloves threatens to imperil an export trade which employs a million Lancashire spindles all the year round. The duty is not only likely to destroy a large business in cotton yarns, but the British trade in the manufactured article has suffered, the export of English-made fabric gloves being much lower for 1926 than for either 1924 or 1925.

The duty is also working against expectations in respect of foreign leather and fur gloves, for the country's consumption of these goods was higher in the first two months of this year than in January and February, 1926. If at the same time British glovers are busier, may not this be attributable to the same general cause that stimulated imports of foreign gloves rather than to the tariff?

State meddling with business is like meddling with Nature. A raid on troublesome birds may be followed by an invasion of pests, left free by the slaughter of their enemies to eat up the farmers' and fruit-growers' crops. "Safety," says one objector to the Safeguarding of Industries Act, "lies nowhere but in Free Trade, as we surely ought to know after seventy years' experience of its blessings." Canada, as shown by the attitude of the electorate last September, is in no mood for high tariffs.

BUILDING EMPLOYMENT RECORD

THE VALUE OF BUILDING AND CONstruction contracts awarded in Canada in 1926 was $372,947,900, compared with $297,973,000 in 1925, an increase of twenty-five per cent. Last year's total was the highest for several years. Developments in the mining, power and paper industries in Canada was an important factor contributing to the activity in building last year. Building materials in 1926 were lower in price than at any time for the last eight years. Returns received from over 300 building contractors, employing an average of more than 30,000 men, show that the index of employment in 1926 averaged 157.4, the highest on the record of the Canadian Government Bureau of Statistics.

Queer Quirks of Nature

A WILDERNESS BANQUET TABLE
By ARTHUR N. PACK

The hawthorn, known too as the thorn apple, is one wilderness shrub that may truly be said to spread a feast for birds and animals of the forest.

Deer, rabbits, partridge and pheasants are regular visitors to this banquet table during the Fall and Winter months, and occasionally even a fox or coyote will come in for a meal of the small, tart, red fruit.

Even humans do not scorn the thorn apples. Country lads prize them as a tidbit with but one drawback, the white grub that so often lingers in the mealy flesh.

The hawthorn is most often a dense shrub, although it occasionally reaches the proportions of a tree, low and widespreading, resembling an apple tree in form and style of branching. The branches are armed with long stout spikes or thorns, needle tipped and capable of inflicting deep scratches.

It is these thorns that the Indian tribesmen are said to have first used as barbs on their primitive stone fishhooks, binding them on so that they operated after the fashion of a modern spring hook.

The haw blossoms, appearing early in Spring, are white, not showy, and have little fragrance.

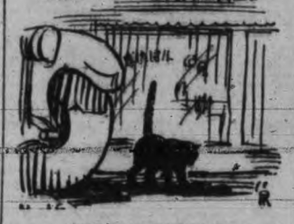
A THOUGHT

Love is the fulfilling of the law. — Romans xiii., 10.

Love is the only possession which we can carry with us beyond the grave.—Madame Necker.

Do You Mean What You Say?

"KITTY CORNERED"



"KITTYCORNERED"

One of the most accurate expressions now popularly used is "kittycornered" or "catercornered" to mean jaywalking at a street intersection. Cats and kittens invariably take the shortest distance to a destination. A familiar sight is a small kitten passing through traffic, tail in air, the turmoil about it unheeded. Obviously, persons who cross streets at the same angle or diagonally, are said to cross "kittycornered."

Canadian Questions and Answers

HOW CANADA GOT ITS NAME

Q.—How did Canada get its name?

A.—It is credited to the late Sir Leonard Tilley that he suggested the name "Dominion" when a title was being sought at Confederation and that he got the idea from reading Psalm 72 8 which reads: "He shall have Dominion also from sea to sea and from the river unto the ends of the earth." This verse is engraved on the Memorial Tower of the New Parliament Buildings at Ottawa.

STATION CFCT

To the Editor:—The Victoria Radio Club would like Dr. Clem Davies to lay before them any information he may have as to an organized plot against CFCT in favor of other interests.

In case evidence is proven as to unfair propaganda, the Victoria Radio Club will do all in its power to see that justice is done Mr. Deaville and Station CFCT.

This association is not interested in any local broadcasting station, present or future, and its interests are only as the broadcasting affects local reception.

Because conditions are bad in other cities is no reason why we in Victoria should not try to improve matters. Reception is not satisfactory to eighty per cent of the local owners of receiving sets, chiefly on account of CFCT.

The Victoria Radio Club believes these conditions can be improved and will welcome any constructive criticism.

President, Victoria Radio Club.

WHAT IS A CANADIAN?

To the Editor:—The leading article of The Times, dated April 20, brings into prominence, yet once again, a subject which appears to cause a number of people in this country a good deal of concern. Does not much of our difficulty arise from a confusion of ideas with regard to the question—What is a Canadian? I would suggest that race is being confused with citizenship.

A person born in this country is a Canadian, that is to say, he or she is a British subject possessing Canadian citizenship. Further there should be nothing to prevent and there is every reason to urge that an individual born abroad and who is settled in Canada, who is earning his livelihood and who is bringing up a family in this country should call himself, and be called by others, a Canadian.

But is it not pertinent to suggest that those who speak of a Canadian race are somewhat previous to the extent of, say, a dozen generations.

By reason of differences in soil and climate and also in living conditions the Anglo-Saxon in Canada has bred away from the type of the present generation of the land of his fathers. But a great many of our fellow citizens are not of Anglo-Saxon stock. Therefore to say that we have already evolved a Canadian race surely borders on the ridiculous.

Mr. Mackenzie King is undoubtedly a Canadian but so also is M. Alexandre Taschereau. But can any stretch of the imagination lead any person to say that these two gentlemen are of the same race. Mr. Mackenzie King is Scotch, while M Taschereau is as French as were his ancestors who came to this country some two hundred years ago. And in Canada the French number approximately thirty per cent of the population.

Therefore, while we may employ the term Canadian to denote our political status we must continue, yet awhile, to denote our racial origin by reference to one of the different races from which each of us, individually, has sprung.

Should this not be the case permit me to encolse my card and subscribe myself

BILL CAMERON Was Tellin' Me

—that he didn't seem to be able to get very excited about this Musical Festival we're havin' in town these days, and so I told him that we ought to be tickled to death, 'cause it's a fine thing for our business. "How's that?" says he. "This way," says I. "The more musical affairs you have in a town the more interest people take in music, and the more interest there is in music the more people stay home and listen to the phonograph and radio, and the more people stay home the more wood and coal we can sell them to keep their houses warm." I figured that I had him there, but he comes right back—"That sounds all right, too, but the trouble is, when people get interested in music, they take in public concerts and recitals in theatres and halls which are heated by oil furnaces." But whether we decide that the Festival is a good thing for our business or not we're tellin' you that you're missin' a lot of fine music if you aren't takin' in the competitions. Montreal, April 22.—A man who had typhoid fever twenty years ago and remained a carrier is the only source uncovered to account for the epidemic which started in Montreal March 4 and continued for more than a month before it was brought under control. Some 2,415 cases developed.

This man unsuspectingly applied for and received work in a local dairy. He was dismissed as soon as it was learned he was a carrier.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of School Trustees of Esquimalt will be held at the Lampson Street School on Thursday next at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Florence Wiffen will be the speaker at First Spiritual Church, 720 Fort Street, Sunday evening at 7.30. The subject will be "Renconciliation."

On two separate charges of having stolen goods in his possession, John Morrison appeared in the City Police Court this morning. The case was adjourned until Monday at the request of the accused.

On a charge of driving to the common danger in the Dardanelles, Fort Street, on the evening of April 9, Jeffrey Marshall was fined $20 by Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court this morning.

A dance under the auspices of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club will be given in the Alexandra club ballroom Wednesday evening next, April 27. Ozard's orchestra will furnish the music.

Victoria will have representation on the Alice Arm tour of the Vancouver Board of Trade, it was decided at a meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to-day. The tour starts on June 19, and will occupy about ten days in a tour of West Coast mainland points.

There will be only one competition in the Victoria Musical Festival tomorrow afternoon, Saturday, this being the senior violin solo class. A number of talented entries have been received and a very fine afternoon's entertainment is promised. The competition will take place in City Temple Hall, North Park Street, at 2 o'clock.

Catching fire through sparks flying from a nearby bonfire the storehouse owned by W. Allison, on the East Saanich Road, was completely destroyed on Wednesday afternoon. The Saanich fire department was in attendance, and succeeded in saving the remaining dwellings, but the storehouse was a complete loss.

Export lumber rates do not apply to the Atlantic seaboard shipments and this fact is acting to the detriment of Island lumber interests in some respects, it was reported at the directors' meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to-day. The point is to be followed up with a view to securing some rearrangement of the present plan.

In connection with the "Save the Forest" campaign next week Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce will speak over radio CFCT at 10.30 next Monday evening. Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, will speak Wednesday at 8.30, Mayor J. C. Pendray, Thursday at 10.30, and Premier Oliver Friday at 8.30.

On Wednesday evening the Victoria boys' orchestra held a social in the Elks clubrooms, which were kindly loaned by that organization for the purpose. There was a short concert, which was featured by instrumental solos by Albert Price, David Kirkendale and Oscar McComb, and a duet by the Medley Bros. After refreshments, dancing occupied the attention of all present, and brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.

Fifteen new members for the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and its Junior Section were reported on at the directors' meeting of the Chamber to-day. These include E. F. Marshall, G. A. Kilman, Owen Fowler, G. Scott Morrison, W. S. Oliver, F. W. Francis, H. G. Purser, A. T. Weight, F. R. Wells, F. B. Whiteside, M. K. Perry, A. H. C. Jones, James Cummins and Frank Gooch, for the Junior Chamber, and A. MacCorkindale for the Senior Chamber.

In a judgment handed down in County Court to-day, Judge Lampman finds for the defendant in the action of Wah Lee versus C.P.R. Two hogs missing from a shipment from Calgary to Colwood formed the subject of the dispute. Plaintiff claimed eighty hogs had been shipped and that he had received but seventy-eight. Judge Lampman dismisses the action as against the transportation company on the weight of the evidence as to the number of animals loaded by T. F. Cadzow Limited, Calgary for Wah Lee at Colwood. Plaintiff's claim, for $68.73 was dismissed.

Reporting on the question of destitution among ex-service men, raised at a joint meeting called under returned soldier auspices, to the directors' meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to-day, Hamilton Crisford, appointed as a delegate from the Junior Chamber, gave a review of present conditions in Victoria. While every attention should be continued to be paid to the problem of handicapped men Victoria could not be taxed with neglecting its duty in this respect, said Mr. Crisford. Gus Lyons, M.P.P., concurred. The directors expressed sympathy with the cause and decided to have continued representation at the public meeting which is to follow.

Missionaries Spoke—The Fairfield W.M.S. held its first missionary meeting of the current year at the home of Rev. and Mrs. John Robson, Garbally Road, yesterday afternoon. Miss Henderson, the new president, was in the chair, and thirty members were present. Mrs. P. E. Young, who with her husband has been engaged in missionary work in Central India, spoke briefly and exhibited a number of curios and later sang a hymn in Hindustani with Mr. Young. Mrs. E. B. Cousland from Shanghai aroused much interest with her description of mission work there, and she also gave a brief outline of the history and political background of the present situation. She earnestly pleaded for the continuance of the sympathy and prayers of Christian people for the Chinese. Mrs. J. W. Saunby, formerly of Japan, lead the gathering in prayer, and Miss Jessie Cousland, who has been teaching in Japan, showed some interesting curios. Mrs. Robson served refreshments.

PROVINCIAL I.O.D.E. CONSIDERED MANY RESOLUTIONS TO-DAY

Ask For Suppression of Objectionable Advertising and Window Displays

Resolutions brought forward by various chapters throughout the Province occupied much time at this morning's session of the Provincial I.O.D.E. The subject of objectionable advertising and window displays was brought forward by the Vancouver Municipal Chapter and sponsors by the Capt. Oates Chapter of that city. It was decided to ask the National Chapter, and also the Provincial Local Council of Women to take up the matter with a view to suppressing "this extremely objectionable advertizing."

The Duncan Lawson Chapter of West Vancouver petitioned that the Girl Guides Company under its jurisdiction be accredited with the title of the "premier I.O.D.E. Girl Guide Company of the Dominion," as although the rules and regulations governing these I.O.D.E. companies had not been drawn up when it was formed, it was proud of being the first in Canada. Owing to lack of registration facilities at the time of its organization, the company was numbered twenty-five on the national roster.

Another resolution endorsed by the meeting called for the insertion in "Echoes" of an article supporting Canadian periodicals. During the discussion one member pointed out that her son, an Englishman, who is a wholesale newsagent, would gladly sell British periodicals, but the public would not buy them, and the meeting agreed that education on these matters should begin in the home.

The request of the Admiral Jellicoe Chapter of Vancouver for the National Chapter to hold triennial meetings instead of annual, was laid on one side, it being pointed out that a resolution calling for biennial gatherings was before the National Chapter at the present time.

Mrs. A. U. de Pencier read the report of Mrs. R. C. Boyle, for the distinguished visitors' committee, telling of the flowers and greetings sent to Queen Marie of Roumania and the reception in Victoria for Lady Willingdon.

ISLAND MAILS ARE SUBJECT OF ACTION

Chamber of Commerce Notified of Dislocation in Morning Mails to Victoria

Acting on the protests of Island interests, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce is endeavoring to secure the re-establishment of a daily mail service from Island points to Victoria in the mornings. The dropping of the mail coach from the down trains to Victoria in the morning had dislocated communication all along the route, it was reported. Action to secure a return of the mail coach will be taken, it was stated at a directors' meeting of the chamber to-day.

The directors decided to gather all the necessary data on the point and to submit it to those in charge of the service. Communications to this end have already taken place between the chamber and the postal authorities at Ottawa. At Ottawa it was explained that the dropping of the coach came as the result of a change in Island trains, and the cost of the service was also referred to in relation to the revenue it gave in return.

Stage carriage of mails was discussed by the directors, but the whole question was laid over for more adequate information.

Gulf Island residents could secure quicker mail communication with Victoria by addressing their letters via Vancouver, it was reported also, following a conference between chamber officers and Capt. J. W. Troup. Vancouver connection with the Gulf Islands, similarly, was often quicker through Victoria, by reason of the manner in which boat schedules operated between points, it was reported.

AMENDED LAWS AID CITY TAX COLLECTION

Voluntary Settlement Under Fifteen-year Plan May Prove Considerable

The practical results of the legislative amendments secured by the city at the last session of the Provincial House were brought home to the city treasurer yesterday when the owner of property on Cormorant Street settled his debt with the corporation under the fifteen-year extension plan in full. The ratepayer, who had consolidated his taxes under the plan designed as a measure of post-war relief, by settling now secured a ten per cent. cut in the amount necessary to settle the debt in full.

Upwards of $350,000 is outstanding under the fifteen-year tax extension plan, stated City Treasurer Edwin C. Smith to-day. Ten per cent of a saving can be effected by those who are in a position to pay off the tax arrears under this plan before September 30, 1927. One per cent per annum is allowed for all who settled the 1937 due debts in advance.

Sums ranging from a few hundred dollars up to $15,000 are owing to the city by individual ratepayers under the plan. In the average case, where the consolidated arrears approximate $2,500, the ratepayer would save $250 by settling prior to September 30 this year.

The machinery to provide for the rebate is now in operation, but the plan is a voluntary one, explained Mr. Smith, and need not be taken advantage of unless those coming under the scheme see fit.

Under its regular system of prepaid tax rebates the city has collected $287,400 of its 1927 levy to date, on which ratepayers will save $11,347 in rebates by way of interest. There are now 1,210 voluntary subscribers to this plan.

DENTISTS BLAME BAD FOOD FOR TOOTH TROUBLES

Present Day Eating Unnatural, Convention Told; Problem Serious For Mothers

The character of food consumed by people to-day is closely associated with, if not solely responsible for tooth decay, the most nearly universal of all human afflictions, Dr. W. J. Lea of Vancouver told the B.C. Dental Association convention in session at the Empress Hotel here.

"Decay of the teeth is directly responsible for the lactic acid excretion of bacteria, which feed on foodstuffs of a carbohydrate nature, such as bread, cake, biscuits, which cling to the surfaces of the teeth, especially in locations where the friction of the tongue, cheeks and lips exerts no influence, and it is in these areas that faulty formation and imperfect calcification is most often found," Dr. Lea said.

FROM EXPERIMENTS

"From extensive experimental feeding of puppies and children, Professor and Mrs. Mellanby of Liverpool have concluded:

"First, that decay of children's teeth is primarily a problem of defective feeding, which results in imperfect formation.

"Second, that the dietetic factors responsible for the formation of sound teeth, also confer resistance upon teeth already erupted.

"Third, that foods containing fat-soluble vitamines, such as milk, egg-yolk, butter, animal and fish fats, and especially cod-liver oil, bring about the formation of sound teeth, while cereals and especially oatmeal, in the absence of this vitamin, bring about the formation of poorly calcified tooth.

Dr. F. T. Coughlan of Vancouver was elected president of the B. C. Dental Association. Other officers elected were: Dr. A. Brighouse, Vancouver, presidentelect; Dr. E. Fraser Allan, Vancouver, secretary-treasurer; Dr. W. J. Bruce, Vancouver, chairman of board of censors; Dr. F. Smith, New Westminster and Dr. H. Cline, Vancouver, censors.

Reports showed 305 members of the association. Vancouver will be next year's meeting place. Dr. Bruce was elected delegate to the Pacific Coast Dental Conference and Dr. Emery Jones to the Toronto convention in May.

Dr. R. L. Pallen of Vancouver lectured on school dentistry, and a discussion on this was led by Dr. H. J. Henderson of Victoria.

Dr. Aubrey Martin to-day gave his clinic demonstrations of extractions under local anaesthesia. Others giving clinics to-day include Dr. C. J. Stansbery of Seattle on jaw movement. Dr. A. Brighouse of Vancouver on amalgam; Dr. A. J. Garesche of Victoria on porcelain work and gold inlays; Dr. Emery C. Jones on gold foil; Dr. Milton Jones of Vancouver on local anaesthesia; Dr. A. Johnson of Vancouver on extraction; Dr. Henry Cline Fixott of Portland on oral diagnosis and dental radiography; Dr. D. T. Chase of Portland on partial dentures.

Saturday morning the golf tournament will be staged at Oak Bay under Dr. Garesche.

NEW FEATURE FOR SONS' AND DAUGHTERS' MEETING TO-NIGHT

An interesting additional feature has been arranged by the intersembly committee of the Native Sons and Daughters of Canada for the entertainment which is being sponsored by that organization and to be held at the Native Sons Hall, View Street, to-night at 8 o'clock. J. M. Humphries of Revelstoke will present a lecture illustrated with lantern slides on "Resources of the Canadian Selkirks." These pictures have been shown from Coast to Coast by Mr. Humphries and have met with a good reception wherever shown.

W. N. Kennedy of the Provincial Forest Branch will be the main speaker of the evening presenting a paper on "Timber Resources of British Columbia and Markets for British Columbia Forest Products." A musical programme will also be presented and a cordial invitation is extended to all citizens of Victoria to attend this meeting.

FISH OIL TANKS TO DRAW SHIPPING

Early Start by Canadian National on New Facility at Ogden Point Assured

Chamber of Commerce Learns Development Will be Pushed to the Limit

The fish oil tanks to be established by the Canadian National Railways at Ogden Point will get under construction at an early date, and this facility will be pushed to the limit in the development of the West Coast, it was stated at the directors' meeting of the Chamber of Commerce today, in a report by C. P. W. Schwengers, president.

W. S. Philips, manager of the industrial department of the C.N.R., has been in touch with the Chamber's officers on the development, and is of the belief that the facility will do much in the building of shipping at Victoria. The railway regarded the fish oil tanks as a development with an active future and were prepared to push the use of the facility to the limit, it was reported.

MACHINIST DIES AFTER TRAGIC FALL

Albert S. Chislett Contracted Pneumonia After Accident Saturday

Pneumonia contracted under tragic circumstances caused the death at the Jubilee Hospital yesterday afternoon of Albert Stephen Chislett, for many years a machinist at the B. C. Electric substation, Store Street. On Saturday evening, after placing his car in the garage at 1015 Tolmie Avenue, where he resided, he started up the steps, but apparently had a fainting spell and fell, fracturing his skull. He was not discovered until the next morning, when the seriousness of his condition was considerably aggravated by pneumonia, caused by the long exposure. He recovered consciousness for a brief period on Tuesday, but his recovery from the first was doubtful.

The late Mr. Chislett was born in Victoria, forty-one years ago, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Chislett. His training as a machinist was used in the war years, for after enlisting in an infantry battalion, he was transferred to the shops at Camp Borden, and stayed there throughout the war as a mechanic for the flying corps.

Mr. Chislett was a member of the Canadian Legion, and of Court Northern Light, A.O.F., of this city.

The family surviving are Mr. A. C. Chislett, brother, and Mrs. N. L. Dunn, a sister, of 1015 Tolmie Avenue, with whom he lived. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn are in Los Angeles at the present time.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later. The remains are at the Sands Funeral Chapel.

INTERNATIONAL INTEREST IN SPORTS CHANGES AN ENTIRE MODE

The Formality of the "Roaring Nineties" Completely Passes

By LUCILE LaMARRE

THE history of a style is often as alluring and colorful a tale as that of our own country. From some significant event, or as likely from one equally inconsequential, may emanate an idea that revolutionizes the style of nations. The opening of King Tut's tomb with its glittering revelation of prehistoric art influenced the mode by the geometrical designs of things Egyptian. The Great War brought an era of tailored, severe fashions in subdued colors. The victory and gaiety brought the reign of frivolous fashions—rich silks, brocades, chiffons and satins. The vivid personality of a Raquel Meller brought a Spanish vogue. And so on ad infinitum.

Now, the spotlight of the world is turned to the field of sports. Not since Athens flourished has so much international attention been accorded to sports. Canada throws her glove in the ring, too. The country is at play. She sends her young sons and daughters to compete with the best of other nations.

From the tennis courts came the inspiration for the dominant features of the new mode—tailored, rakish simplicity. Lenglen's sleeveless frock and Helen Wills trim little two-piece outfit were the beginning. A few days after their first game the ultra spectators were wearing similar costumes—then spectators and participants the world over took up the fashion.

In the wake of the sports frocks came the sports underthings. The abbreviated panties, the shorter vests, the combination step-ins. And as usual, the first to present the new fashions to Canada was no other than Kayser. They are ever alert to a new trend, and very wise, too, for never do they lose sight of the old-fashioned, high standard of quality in this feverish style-mad life of ours.

In days like these it's a relief to find something dependable—and Kayser quality is the soul of dependability. Their "Italian"* silk is made of all pure silk and dyed with pure dyes and the underwear is cut to fit—not skimped—with the exclusive Kayser "Marvelfit"* feature which is further assurance of longer wear and better fit.

With the sports costumes, gloves have come into their own again. That seems like a paradox—but you never can analyze some of the vagrant ways of Dame Fashion. It's as much a breach of all fashion etiquette to be seen without gloves as it is to eat with a knife.

These new gloves aren't merely hand coverings either. They've very definite styles for every occasion. In the Kayser spring showing of silk gloves every one of the new styles is included—from the gay, embroidered cuffed model to the one-button, nonchalant-fitting tailored glove.

In them you will find the best in style, quality and serviceability—and the thrifty soul will appreciate their economy.

Hosiery crept into the spotlight for its share in fashion honors by new shades. Beige shades, flesh shades and subtle grays all vie for predominance and seem to share honors equally.

Here again, in style Kayser excels, introducing every variation of these colors that have been favored by the smart woman both abroad and here. And here again Kayser combines style with serviceability. They bring the same fine quality to the fashioning of their hosiery that they do to underwear and gloves.

Every pair is made of 100% pure thread silk and 100% pure dyes and is full fashioned. And one of the cleverest innovations is the "Slipper-Heel,"* designed to give a grace of line and slenderness to the ankle.

All Kayser stockings are fine gauge (42 gauge). Note their smooth, even elasticity compared with ordinary coarse gauge stockings.

When you are buying underwear, gloves or hosiery, if you insist on Kayser, you'll never have to worry for fear that they're not smart nor wearable nor economical nor serviceable. THEY ARE.

URGES SUPPORT OF SCHOOL ATHLETICS

City Life Made Athletic Development More Necessary, Says Alderman Adam

A plea for the development of athletics in all its branches as a necessary and adjunct to business life and the progress of any community was made by Alderman James Adam, speaking on the city's series of weekly broadcast over CFCT last night.

Physical fitness for the stress of life was one of the essentials to success, he said. A state of physical well being led to right thinking and aggressive action, the more needed in this day as city life was tending to reduce the stamina and endurance of the people of the modern world.

By fostering athletics in the schools a community could build up its rising generations to a standard of hardy manhood and perfect health.

EXCELLENT SHOW OF BULBS AT COLWOOD

Children's Minature Gardens Draw High Praise

Colwood, April 22.—There was a good attendance at the Colwood Hall on Wednesday afternoon on the occasion of the annual bulb and Spring flower show, held under the auspices of the Colwood Women's Institute. Visitors from Victoria, Langford and the neighbouring districts were present with a very representative gathering of Colwood residents.

The Rev. H. Allen judged the exhibits and complimented the exhibitors on the excellence of the blooms, decorations, etc., paying particular tribute to the children's minature gardens, which were particularly worthy of note. The gardens were tastefully arranged and showed considerable ingenuity and Mr. Allen expressed the wish that the children would be encouraged to exhibit in the next Victoria flower show.

A short and very pleasing programme of entertainment was given in which Miss Hawkswood and Miss Mamie Graham rendered vocal solos and Miss Evelyn Smith contributed a pianoforte selection very pleasingly. Mrs. Ed. Shields accompanied the singers in her usual finished style.

The chair was taken by the president of the Institute, Miss Marion Kelly, who spoke of the interest of the organization in the Queen Alexandra Solarium and read a short and very interesting article instancing the strong appeal that crippled and sick children have to the hearts of the people.

Afternoon tea was served on prettily decorated tea tables by members of the Institute under the convenership of Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Spencer. The visitors were received by Miss Mary Kelly.

Following is the prize list, 1st prizes only being awarded in all classes except the children's section and decorated tea tables.

Double daffodils—Mrs. Brown.
Single daffodils—H. J. Pendray.
Tulips—H. J. Pendray.
Collection Spring flowers—H. J. Pendray.
Narcissi—H. J. Pendray.
Hyacinths—Mrs. Harry Parker.
Jonquils—Mrs. A. Peatt.
Decorated tea tables—1, Miss Hawkswood; 2, Mrs. John Goodall.
Children's miniature gardens—1, Ronald Colebert; 2, James Wilson; 3, Eleanor Peatt.

The children's prizes consisted of books awarded by the Department of Agriculture.

Preceding the opening of the show a short business meeting of the Institute was held at which the members arranged to attend the Child Health Day Pageant to be held in the district on April 30 to represent the Institute. The float will be graced by the Queen of Health with her guardians, the doctor and nurse. A committee was appointed to take charge of arrangements.

The members formally confirmed the decision to award an engraved silver medal to the pupil obtaining the highest number of marks at the forthcoming entrance examinations.

May Divide Saanich Into Separate Areas For School Children

Plans are now being made by the Saanich School Board to divide the municipality into separate school areas. At a special meeting of the board held last night Trustees Thorpe and Macnicol were appointed a committee to report on the Tillicum and Craigflower Schools, and Trustees Hobbs and Horner will report on Cedar Hill and Gordon Head schools. Attendance of pupils at the Model School will also be investigated.

These plans will mean if carried out that pupils residing in a certain district will have to attend a certain school.

Modern Women's Hygiene

Ends worries of old ways
Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

SHEER gowns and gay frocks, business and social exactments under the most trying of hygienic handicaps are a comfort women of today enjoy.

This because old hygienic ways are being widely supplanted by a new way called Kotex.

✓ Kotex discards as easily as tissue. Thus no laundry, no embarrassment of disposal.

It's 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads." Thus you wear lightest frocks; dance, motor, go for hours without a moment's doubt.

Deodorizes, too; thus ending all fear of offense. 8 in 10 better class women now employ this way. Doctors advise it. Nurses widely urge it. Obtain at any store without embarrassment simply by saying "KOTEX."

Try today and you'll never again risk the uncertainty of old ways. Box of 12 costs only a few cents. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

On the strength of this decision, the committee of selection for this Province had re-appointed Frederick Brand of Victoria overseas scholar for 1927-28, enabling him to continue his mathematical studies at Oxford University.

William Robbins, another Victoria student, was awarded the 1926 Provincial bursary, and Miss Annie Blatchford was, by special resolution of the National Chapter, granted a continuation and completion of her I.O.D.E. bursary for the fourth year. ST. JOSEPH'S CLASS GRADUATION WAS PRETTY CEREMONY

St. Ann's Auditorium Filled Last Night For Nurses' Exercises

The graduation exercises of St. Joseph's Hospital Training School for Nurses were held last evening in the auditorium of St. Ann's Academy, which was thronged with parents and friends of the nurses and of the hospital.

Clad in their white uniforms and caps the nurses of the training school and the twenty-one graduates made a charming picture, filling the stage in gradually rising tiers when the curtain rose, and the National Anthem announced the entry of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Mackenzie.

MUSICAL PROGRAMME

A musical programme in which Miss Eva Hart sang delightfully three songs, giving as a substitute for the duet which J. Q. Gillan was unable to take part in, "Annie Laurie," was received with hearty applause. Miss Dorothy Martree also sang Michael Head's "Piper," and gave a pretty encore, and A. R. Frith sang "The Horn" and "Shipmates," with good effect; "Polonaise Brilliante," Winauski, was given as a violin solo by F. Gratton. Miss Marguerite McKay accompanied both violin and vocalists in her usual sympathetic manner. The presentation of medals and diplomas then followed, Dr. G. F. Aylward read the certificates and the nurses came from their places on the stage to receive their diploma from Dr. W. T. Barrett, their medals were pinned on by Sister Superior.

The bursary for most efficient work, first year nursing, presented by Graduate Nurses' Association of Victoria, was equally merited by Misses Ada Groves, Helen Gibbs, Catherine O'Brien and was drawn by Miss Helen Gibbs.

Bursary for most efficient work, second year nursing, presented by Mrs. Angus Campbell, and was awarded to Miss Gwendolen Carey.

YOUR BABY and MINE
by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

No matter if the baby is getting but one meal a day from the bottle it is essential that the one bottle and nipple be kept scrupulously clean. That means far more than merely washing with soap and water, as failure to keep bottles and nipples clean results in infection, serious diarrhea or thrush, which is an infection of the mouth from dirty, nursing utensils.

Above is the warning. Now we will tell you exactly how to care for the bottles so that no such harm shall result.

There should be as many bottles and nipples as there are feedings in the day. One extra is a good insurance in case of breakage. As bottles can be bought more cheaply by the dozen, this is an economical thing to do. The bottles should be without sharp corners or have a neck which is difficult to wash.

The neck should be large, or else slope gradually into the bottle and be easy of access with a bottle brush, which is always used for cleaning. The nipples should be easily reversible; the exact shape is not of as much concern as that they can be turned either way and washed.

As each bottle is emptied rinse and fill immediately with cold water. Keep nipples in jar until ready to wash. Wash both bottles and nipples in hot soap suds, rinse and boil for five minutes. Take out nipples and keep in clean covered glass jar.

Bottles can be allowed to cool in water and taken out when ready to fill, or they may be turned upside down on a clean towel until ready for filling.

The utensils used for preparing the milk formula should be used for nothing else. They should not be ordinary kitchen utensils which have simply been washed and scalded with the rest of the dishes. They should be washed and boiled separately just as are the bottles. This may seem like a lot of trouble for the busy mother and a lot of unnecessary expense. But bottle feeding is troublesome. The preparation of the milk formula, the care of the bottles and nipples cannot be accomplished without time and trouble unless one is prepared to suffer the results of carelessness.

NAVAL WEDDING AT CEDAR HILL CHURCH

Miss Helen MacGregor of Shanghai Wed Yesterday to Cecil Claxton, R.N.R.

Miss Helen MacGregor of Shanghai and Mr. Cecil Claxton, R.N.R., of London, England, were united in marriage at a pretty ceremony at St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the presence of a number of the bride's friends. Spring flowers, Madonna lilies and ferns were used in decorating the church, with charming effect.

The bride has lived for some time with Mr. and Mrs. Peter McNaughton, Gordon Head, and Mr. McNaughton gave her in marriage. She looked charming in ivory charmeuse with shadow hem of lace, a veil of soft embroidered tulle falling en train from a cornet of orange blossom. She carried a sheaf of Madonna lilies and maidenhair fern.

Mrs. McNaughton was matron of honor in a smart gown of black taffeta, with French model hat to match, carrying a bouquet of pink roses. Miss Winnifred Woods, the bridesmaid, wore Nile green charmeuse with hat of the same shade, and carried a bouquet of daffodils. Mr. Robert Johnson was best man. Both groom and best man wore naval uniform.

During the service the congregation sang "O Love Divine, All Human Loves Excelling."

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton, quantities of Spring flowers being arranged in the drawing-room where the young couple received many friends. A wedding cake, the gift of a handsome Shanghai, occupied the centre of the table in the dining-room and was cut by the bride.

After a honeymoon at Sooke, Mr. and Mrs. Claxton will make their home in Vancouver.

PRESIDENT PIERCE DUE EARLY MONDAY

On her first trip from the Orient to this port in the joint American Mail-Dollar line horseshoe service from the Orient, the Dollar Liner President Pierce, Capt. Henry Nelson, will arrive at William Head quarantine station at daylight Monday morning, W. M. Allan, local agent has been advised.

The Pierce is bringing one of the largest lists carried by one of the joint service vessels for some time, passengers in all classes totaling over 500. Among these are several missionaries from war-stricken areas of China, given furloughs several months in advance in order to remove them from the dangers confronting foreigners in the disturbed sections.

In cargo, the Pierce is also heavy. Included in her total of 5,500 tons is a silk shipment valued at $5,000,000, and large consignments of cocoanut oil and wood oil. She has 400 tons for discharge at Victoria. She carries about 1,500 bags of mail, a large consignment of which will be put off here.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnezia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three time as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

IMMIGRANTS TO CANADA BROUGHT ABOUT $1,000,000

Montreal, April 22.—One of the most striking facts about the people who have come into Canada this season is that all carry a fair amount of capital and a conservative computation of those who passed through Winnipeg indicates the new workers and settlers carried with them at least $1,000,000 in ready cash. This observation was made yesterday by F. J. Freer of Winnipeg, superintendent of land settlement, colonization department, Canadian National Railways.

Mr. Freer, accompanied by E. A. Field, land commissioner, C.N.R., from Winnipeg for the purpose of meeting Dr. W. J. Black, director of colonization, and discussing matters of policy regarding the work of the department.

In discussing present conditions and the hopes of the prairie provinces, Mr. Freer laid stress upon the good type of people who had come to Canada this season and adduced that they were all eager for land and would quickly seize upon opportunities.

Cotterell, general superintendent of the British Columbia district of the railway after consultation with Vice-president Grant Hall. Following is the official announcement:

"The marine section of the Greater Vancouver Jubilee Celebration Committee, of which Capt. Want Duty Raised On Men's Felt Hats

Ottawa, April 22 — Claiming British manufacturers enjoyed advantage over Canadian manufacturers in the Canadian market with respect to the production of hats from fur and wool felt bodies, the Buckley Drouin Company Limited of Montreal applied to the Tariff advisory Board here yesterday for a revision of the tariff.

The application referred to large importations of wool and fine fur hats from Italy and England, pointed out that Canadian manufacturers were importing and finishing bodies manufactured in Italy, Germany and other countries, and held that the present tariff gave an advantage to British importers of finished hats.

The duty on finished hats from Great Britain is twenty per cent. and on importations from other countries thirty to thirty-five per cent. Duties on wool felt and fur bodies are the same.

The applicants contended British manufacturers imported the bodies from foreign countries, finished them in Great Britain and shipped them to Canada, paying twenty per cent. duty, while the Canadian manufacturers paid thirty to thirty-five per cent. duty on the importation of bodies to be finished in Canada. Taking into consideration Canadian labor costs, which it was contended were higher than in Great Britain, the applicants argued the British manufacturers enjoyed a marked advantage in the Canadian market over the Canadian manufacturers of finished hats.

Two other Canadian hat manufacturing companies, James Corlstine & Company and A. Sigmund Company, associated themselves with the application.

Testimonials Such as This Tell the Story of

I-ON-A-CO

GAYLORD WILSHIRE
Inventor of I-ON-A-CO

Wilshire's I-ON-A-CO.,
1113 Government Street,
Victoria, B.C.
Dear Sir,

I think I was about the first one to get the I-ON-A-CO Belt in Victoria. I was brought here from the East to see if the climate would save my life, but for two years I felt no better. I first heard about I-ON-A-CO over the radio and, to make a long story short, I sent for one—and it was a lucky day for me.

I feel sure that I can undoubtedly prove that I was the sickest woman who ever entered Victoria, and had been that way for fourteen years. I was not expected to live until Spring, when the belt arrived. To-day I consider myself perfectly normal. I have not had an ache or a pain since I took the first treatment. Anyone who has any doubts about I-ON-A-CO, refer them to me.

Yours very truly,
MARY J. HULL,
1710 Richmond Avenue, Victoria, B. C.

Miss Jessie Mackenzie and Miss Nellie Jones, both long experienced in matters pertaining to the physical welfare of humanity, are in attendance in our Government Street offices, and have charge of the demonstrating department, where you may rest assured of the most skilful and careful attention.

ST. JOSEPH'S CLASS GRADUATION WAS PRETTY CEREMONY

Evelyn Doreen Whittington, Miss Phyllis J. Dalziel, Miss Mary Agnes Reid and Miss Bernice W. Bittancourt.

The valedictory was read by Miss H. Margaret Service, in which she expressed the happiness of the class in having successfully passed the three years' training in St. Joseph's Hospital Training School, at their loyalty and love for their Alma Mater and the debt of gratitude they owed to the sisters for their gifts of teaching and example.

At the close of the valedictory the nurses in unison repeated the Florence Nightingale Pledge, the solemnity of which deeply impressed the audience.

Dr. F. B. Bryant, president of St. Joseph's Hospital staff, then addressed the nurses, charging them to be faithful to their great mission, to help humanity and to bring comfort and courage into the homes of others. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor thanked the sisters for asking himself and his niece, Miss Mackenzie to be present again on such a pleasing occasion. Rt. Rev. Monsignor Leterme, V.G., spoke as the representative of the Rev. Thomas O'Donnell, Bishop of Victoria, and in a few words dwelt upon the advantages of hospital training, the impertance of peace of mind and good cheer, where the sick are concerned, that happiness has an untold influence upon bodily ills. Mayor Pendray was also called upon by Dr. Barrett to speak, and gave his share of congratualtions and good wishes to the young graduates. Miss Helen Randall, inspector of training schools for British Columbia and president of the B.C. Graduate Nurses Association, congratulated the graduates and welcomed them into the association as she well knew the value of the training they had had, St. Joseph's Hospital standing in the first class of training schools for nurses in the standardization of hospitals.

The garduates received with their diplomas beautiful baskets of flowers, Miss Doris Taylor, R.N., of the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital was in charge of the flowers, assisted by little Joy La Chapelle, Effie Hillier and Doreen Kenning. Miss Florence Fraser was the medal bearer, the ushers were Millian Mullin and Walter Fraser. The bursary of the Graduate Nurses' Association was presented by Miss M. Morrison and Mrs. Walter Fraser presented the bursary from the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital. Mrs. Angus Campbell was present, and made the presentation of her own bursary.

The school song, "Loyal and True," sung in chorus, brought a very delightful evening to a close. The nurses and their friends repaired to St. Joseph's Hospital, where a social hour was spent and refreshments served, Mrs. J. H. Moore and Mrs. G. F. Aylward acting as chaperones.

After the graduation the nurses were guests of the St. Joseph's Nurses' Alumnae into which they were initiated at a pleasant little ceremony. The class pins were pinned on to them by Mrs. H. Beach, president of the Alumnae. Miss B. Middleton, secretary; Miss Dorris Taylor, treasurer, and Miss E. Macdonald were present to receive the new members.

She also urged them to adopt the slogan "Buy British goods first" and in closing paid warm tribute to the devoted and loyal services of the officers of the Chapter.

Mrs. de Pencier of Vancouver presented Mrs. Griffiths with a lovely bouquet of rose, carnations and narcissi in appreciation of her efficient guidance of the Provincial I.O.D.E.

While some chapters have been disbanded during the year," said the report of the secretary, Mrs. Gordon Smith, "others have been organized and it is obvious from statistics presented, and as shown by the report of the organizing secretary, that the work of the Order continues to go forward in this most western Province of the Dominion.

The total membership is 2,055 in good standing, including thirty-one life members, contained in eighty-seven chapters.

ECHOES SECRETARY

Mrs. Frank Stead, the Echoes' secretary, reported on the progress of the Order's publication among the chapters of British Columbia.

Mrs. A. U. dePencier of Vancouver, Provincial organizing secretary, reported a year of active work in the chapter. She made a special plea for increased work among the children of the Province, instilling into the boys and girls of the schools greater ideals of loyalty and patriotism. The organizing secretaries of Burnaby, Chilliwack and Prince Rupert, in addition to Vancouver's secretary, had sent in reports of progress in those centres. Mrs. dePencier spoke of her visit to Anyox and Prince Rupert, where she was able to see first-hand, the results of organizing in the smaller communities. Four new chapters and one junior chapter had been formed during the year.

Reports were read on work in India, child welfare, distinguished visitors and the constitution.

By Winning One Game They Will Have Taken Lion's Share; Expect Hot Tussles

With three Sunday School League B.C. championship trophies already tucked away, Victoria basketballers will enter the games to-morrow evening determined to at least capture one game from the Vancouver invaders. Victoria Sunday School League teams have done well in the championship events this season, the "Midgets" surprising with a win last Saturday over the Chown "Comets." The Victoria "Capitols" won the Intermediate "B" title, when they downed the speedy "St Giles" squad last week. First United senior men were victors over the Vancouver "Meteors" and Vancouver was successful in winning the junior girls' trophy after a thrilling overtime game with the "Sunshines" of First United. The "Pelixes" of Chown United, also had the edge over the "Fairfields," of Victoria.

VICTORIA LEADS

The series now stands as follows: Victoria three wins; Vancouver, two wins, with two games to be played on Saturday evening at the Y.M.C.A. Should Victoria succeed in winning only one of the remaining games, they would still be one to the good over the Mainlanders. Two wins for Vancouver would give them the edge by one game. Two wins for Victoria would give the capital five trophies to Vancouver's two.

The games to-morrow will be:

Ladies' "A"—Fidelis vs. St. Marks.

Intermediate "A"—Greys vs. Wesleyans.

St. Marks have already showed that they are a team to be feared, their play on Monday last being of a very high calibre. Fidelis will need to be in good form to secure a win over these speedy young ladies.

Wesleyans are also a strong aggregation who will be able to give the Greys plenty to worry about. This game should be a real exciting one. Both games are billed for the Y.M.C.A. commencing at 8 o'clock.

LAWN BOWLING

The lawn bowling season in Greater Victoria is going to have a great send off.

St. George's Day, April 23, will see the new premises built by the Burnside Club, opened by Walter Cameron Nichol.

Mayor Pendray, together with the reeves from the three adjoining municipalities, have been invited to the ceremony, which promises to be an exceptionally pleasant event.

Members of the Victoria and C.P.R. clubs will be there in force and some visitors from the mainland are expected.

MAKE LONG DAY OF IT

The proceedings begin at 2 o'clock and carry on till midnight.

The green will also be officially declared open for the season and all visitors will be entertained with a short game.

Excellent reports were presented at the annual meeting of the Burnside Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club yesterday afternoon.

The retiring officials were tendered a vote of thanks and the meeting dealt with a considerable amount of business.

Mrs. R. H. Huddlestone was unanimously elected president for the coming season.

The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. E. Byng, will carry on until after the opening of the clubhouse, when an executive meeting will be held to deal with applications for membership.

Major J. P. Hibben and the secretary were selected by the ladies to manage the first card game in the new premises to-morrow evening.

Roller Hockey

The play-offs for the roller hockey city championship commence this evening at the Victoria West gymnasium at 7.30 o'clock.

The teams eligible for the play-offs are as follows:

Junior division—Foul Bay Cougars, Saanich Rovers, Times, Dreadnaughts and Ross Bay Rosebuds.

Intermediate — Foul Bay Monarchs, Victoria West, St. Pats and Ross Bay.

Seniors—Colonist and St. Pats.

All the junior and intermediate teams are requested to be present to-night, as the draw for the preliminary games will be made at that time, and three games played that evening.

The semi-finals and finals are to be played next week.

Foley and Snell to Fight This Evening

Vancouver, B.C., April 22.—Joe Waterman, manager of Doc Snell, has requested the local boxing commission that an outside referee be used to handle the bout here tonight when Vic Foley and Snell clash in their ten-round elimination bout.

Waterman presents to the commission that, owing to the importance of the bout and the fact that a world's titular bout with Tod Morgan is at stake for the winner, a neutral referee should be more satisfactory to all concerned.

The commission has not yet given its decision in the matter and may not announce the referee until the ringside

OFF FOR EUROPE

New York, April 22—William T. Tilden, the "Big Bill" of American tennis, sailed last night sailed aboard the liner Columbus with Francis T. Hunter on an official invasion of European tennis strongholds. They will return late this Summer to prepare for defence of the Davis Cup.

The tour, sponsored by the United States Lawn Tennis Association, opens with a team match at Berlin May 6 and 7.

Brutal Spectacle Means Discipline Will Be Enforced

President Williams of Coast League Suspends Brazill For Attack on Umpire

San Francisco, April 22 — For his attack on Umpire Mal Eason yesterday, Frank Brazill, Los Angeles third baseman, was promptly suspended by Harry G. Williams, president of the Pacific Coast League. The suspension was for an indefinite period, and Williams said the penalty would be fixed after investigation.

"Eason telephoned me that Brazill slugged him twice and then, when he was down, kicked him in the head, cutting his ear," said Williams' statement. "This is a disgrace to a great American sport, and a man on the street committing such an act would be arrested.

"It seems to me this brutal spectacle is sufficient answer to those who have claimed that I have been too severe in my efforts to enforce discipline.

REDOUBLE EFFORTS

"I had sensed the approach of some such debacle, and have tried to fend off and protect the umpires. There could be no other culmination to the almost constant, open and underground campaign which has been waged against the umpires for more than a year. Disciplinary measures will simply be redoubled, and baseball in the league will be continued on the basis of real sportsmanship."

The Los Angeles episode was the second in as many days, Manager Marty Krug of the Angels having been suspended indefinitely yesterday morning for an attack on the same umpire on Wednesday.

Canada Makes Plans For Selecting Team For Olympic Games

Trials to be Held in Every Province in Canada, Followed by Two Big Meets

Toronto, April 22.—The selection of field and track athletes for the 1928 Canadian Olympic team will be on a national basis. Every effort will be made by the Olympic committee to fine tooth-comb Canada from coast to coast to uncover the best athletes. Olympic trials will be held in every province in Canada this year some time before July 15. Following these official selection meets will be held in Edmonton, in the West, and St. John, N.B., in the East, about July 1. After this the best of the East and the best of the West whose performance come up to the specified standards will be brought to Toronto for the Canadian championships which will be held August 27 at the University of Toronto Stadium These will be the preliminary trials of 1927, and a good line will be obtained on available material in Canada. Next year there will be an Olympic camp at Montreal when the final selection will be made.

PAY DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR

In these official selection meets the Canadian Olympic committee will pay dollar for dollar in sharing in the expense of athletes from the various provinces who measure up to the standards. This money will come out of the general Olympic funds.

No general coach will be appointed at this time for the athletic team, the allow the various provincial organizations to work this out through their own machinery.

Bats With Hits In Them Looked For By Big League Players

Rookies and Veterans Alike Found Pitching Too Smart For Them Yesterday

Bob Smith Turns in Best Pitching Performance; Automobile Did no Good

New York, April 22 — Baseball that hooked, dipped and whistled down from pitching peaks on several major league diamonds had the veterans and rookies alike fumbling in bat bags to-day for sticks with "hits in 'em."

Brooklyn were most concerned, for Bob Smith, reformed infielder of the Boston Braves, broke his right hand stuff everywhere but against their bats yesterday in shutting out the Dodgers, 3-0. In many ways Bob's brilliant hurling performance was the best of the season. He allowed Brooklyn two hits, the first a slow infield roller in the seventh, and the second a clean single in the eighth. Two passes did no damage when three of five men to reach first base were snuffed out in a double play.

Bob was not alone in his glory, however. Two other National League hurlers turned in four-hit games, while one did the trick in the American circuit. Ray Kremer, who already had won two games for the Pittsburgh Pirates, gave Cincinnati a quartette of safe blows and to make the victory doubly certain, clouted a home run over the left field wall with a man on third base. That was all he had to do to get a 3-2 decision.

GIANTS SUBDUED

Then Alex Ferguson, patient visitor for many years among league leaders, right-handed the stubborn Philadelphia Quakers into a 4-2 victory over the Giants.

Boston fans, hopeful for better days to come, gave Manager Bill Carrigan an automobile before the Red Sox opened the home season against Washington. The tradition among boxers—that if you enter the ring with a garland around your neck you'll come out of it on somebody else's back — held good and Bill's Sox "took one on the chin." 7-4. Murray and Braxton, Senator youngsters, poked out four hits, two each. Tobin hit a homer in the sixth with the bases loaded.

The Yankees posted notice that four-hit performances will be rare against them this Summer by clouting the Athletics again in 13-6. Sammy Gray and Ed. Rommel took most of the punishment.

St. Louis-Detroit and Chicago-Cleveland games were rained out in the American League and Chicago found it too cold to play the St. Louis Cardinals.

Both Teams In Fine Shape For Cup Final

Cardiff City to Reach London To-night, While Arsenal Are Already There Awaiting Referee's Whistle; Wembley Stadium Ready to Receive Huge Crowd; Interest in League Game, With Newcastle and Huddersfield Struggling for Lead

London, April 22 (Canadian Press Cable).—Wembley Stadium, the venue of the English Football Association Cup final to-morrow, was ready to-day to receive the huge crowd that will watch the Cardiff City and Arsenal teams battle for supremacy.

Reports from the Arsenal and Cardiff City camps indicated the teams were in first-class condition. Cardiff City, who have been staying for the past three days at Southport, will come up to London to-night. Arsenal, of course, are at home here.

The teams will be as follows:

Arsenal—Lewis, Parker, Kennedy, Baker, Butler, John, Hulme, Buchan, Brain, Blyth and Hoar.

Cardiff City—Farquharson, Nelson, Watson, Keenor, Sloan, Hardy, Curtis, Irving, Ferguson, Len Davies and McLachlan.

London, April 22.—While the whole country is buzzing with speculation as to the outcome of the English Cup fight on Saturday when Arsenal will face Cardiff City at Wembley Stadium in the final contest, interest nevertheless continues lively in the battle for league honors. The struggle between Huddersfield Town and Newcastle United is a titanic one.

Huddersfield were able to reduce Newcastle's lead to four points by virtue of their 1-0 victory over the Tynesiders last Tuesday, but with only three more games to go their task of clambering into the championship position again would seem to be hopeless.

If Mary's a Good Girl For Just Three Years She'll Be Taken Back

New York, April 22—Confronted by the possibility of a dissenting movement in the West over the issue of Mary K. Browne's ineligibility for amateur golf competition, the United States Golf Association to-day indicated through its secretary, H. H. Ramsay, that the door would be open to her reinstatement only after the usual three-year "good conduct" period.

"The rule which applies to all cases where a golfer is deemed to have capitalized his skill will apply in the case of Miss Browne," explained Mr. Ramsay, who is chairman of the amateur status committee. "It is impossible to forecast what the executive committee would do—we will cross that bridge if and when we come to it."

Sooke And Luxton School Team Play Final Hoop Game

Bryant Cup at Stake To-morrow Night at Sooke and Season Will Wind up

Sooke, April 22.—As far as Sooke is concerned, the 1926-27 basketball season will come to a close to-morrow night in Charters' Hall. Two fast games are billed for the evening. The first is a school game, between Lulxton and Sooke. Following this fixture, the old-time rivals, the Scarlet Runners of Victoria, and the Red Wings of Sooke, will do battle.

The first game, which is due to start promptly at 8 o'clock, will decide which school is to hold the Bryant Cup, which has been competed for by five schools in the district. The league ended with Luxton and Sooke tied for top place. It was decided that a "home-and-home" series between the two schools should be played, the total number of points to count. Consequently, Sooke journeyed to Luxton on Thursday last, where they lost the first game by 20-10. In order to capture the silverware on Saturday night, the Sooke School must pile up a lead of at least eleven points. Charlie Pillar will handle the whistle. It is expected that Jim Bryant, the donor of the cup, will be at Sooke to make the presentation to the successful team.

The games will be followed by a dance, the music for which will be provided by George Ozard's 4-piece orchestra. As this is the last dance of the season, a large crowd is anticipated.

BOBBY JONES AT LAST FALLS FOR THE DOLLAR SIGN

Atlanta, Ga., April 22.—Bobby Jones, British and United States open golf champion, has decided to write a series of articles on golf for a newspaper syndicate, it was learned to-day.

It was said that his decision was prompted by the ruling of the States Golf Association in New York, that his writing would not affect his amateur status in the game provided he wrote his own articles.

News of his action caused some surprise, especially in circles where he has long been regarded as the best example of an amateur. Hitherto it is understood he has refused thousands of dollars for articles on golf.

ST. HELEN'S WIN

London, April 22.—St. Helen's Recreation defeated Rochdale Hornets by eleven points to nothing in a rugby league (Northern Union) game at St. Helen's yesterday.

NO MATTER WHO TUNNEY FIGHTS, HE WINS MONEY

New York, April 22. — Gene Tunney expects to get for his first defence of the world's heavyweight championship in September at least as much as the $750,000 Jack Dempsey is understood to have received in their title bout last year.

Tunney, just back from a transcontinental vaudeville tour, disclosed that by agreeing to fight the winner of Tex Rickard's elimination tournament, he will receive more than he would otherwise. "Rickard is making big money out of the elimination bouts," Tunney said.

Tunney declared that all his fighting plans this year are in Rickard's hands.

"It makes no difference to me who the challenger is," said the champion.

It is estimated he collected more than $100,000 for his vaudeville tour.

Edmonton Grads Are Women's Basketball Champions Once More

Speed of Toronto Lakesides Offset by Superior Combination and Shooting

Westerners Won Both Games of Series; Converting Free Throws Helped

Toronto, April 22. — Edmonton Grads captured the Canadian senior ladies' basketball championship here last night when they defeated Toronto Lakesides, champions of Eastern Canada, 19 to 14, in the second of a two-game series for the title. The Grads won the first contest, 34 to 24.

Last night's game was hotly contested throughout, but the superiority of the Edmonton quintette in combination and shooting gave them an advantage which the speed of the Lakesides could not overcome.

The teams were tied at four-all at the end of the first period. The Grads took the lead in the second when they counted on two beautiful baskets and three foul throws, giving them an 11-5 advantage. The third was about the best of the game with the machine-like play of the winners standing out. The final session favored the locals and they outscored the winners, 4 to 3, but were unable to wipe out the lead, the game ending 19 to 14.

WON ON FREE THROWS

Toronto missed many excellent chances to score through their inability to count on foul throws, while the Grads on the other hand seldom missed an opportunity to add a single point to their score. The winners checked better than their opponents, and this accounted for numerous Toronto scoring attempts being frustrated at a safe distance from the baskets.

As in the first contest the locals were first to score. They started off with a rush, carrying the attack to the Grads who became a bit disorganized. Miss Dunlop scored for her team on a foul throw to Lakesides and two baskets, one by each team resulted in a 4-4 deadlock at the end of the first quarter. Starting the second session, the Grads, playing like a well oiled machine, took command of the situation and held the upper hand for the balance of the game, though hard pressed in the closing minutes when the locals fought back furiously in a vain attempt to at least gain victory on the final game.

PRACTICAL GOLF

By George Gadd

NO. 1.—THE PENALTY OF UNDERCLUBBING

I do not think there is a worse fault amongst amateur golfers than the persistent manner in which they try to make a club do more than it was designed to accomplish.

Probably the most absurd club is the mid-iron. It is no exaggeration to say that it is often taken when a brassie or a spoon is needed. I can only suggest as a reason for this, that an iron makes it easier to get the ball up. But right through the game there is an unfortunate tendency for the player to underclub himself. When he should use a mid-iron, he takes a mashie or jigger and forces the shot.

The iron shot up to the hole demands more accuracy than any other in the game. In driving, for instance, a ball that finishes safely on the fairway is considered to be good enough, and the average fairway is about forty yards in width. Now, in regard to the iron shot up to the hole, the entrance to the green is seldom more than fifteen or eighteen yards wide. In these circumstances, it will at once be seen that greater accuracy is essential than when a driver is used.

I think it is safe to say that seven out of every ten shots which go wrong finish to the right. That is to say they have been either sliced or pushed out. It is no doubt because this error is so common that special pains have been taken to see that it is adequately punished.

In modern golf architecture, the aim seems to be to have a dog-leg type of hole, and invariably the turn is to the right. Under these conditions the hole is usually tucked away behind a bunker or mound with the result that the poor player who has pushed or sliced his shot finds that even if he is not in the bunker, he has to pitch over it, and it is almost impossible to lay the ball anywhere near the hole.

"Keep away from the right," is sound advice, and one way to do this is to stop forcing the shots. Indeed, in my experience one seldom gets into trouble by taking a slightly stronger club that may seem necessary. Be up with your second shots as well as with your putts.

Perhaps the chief reason why one should guard against under-clubbing is that one is then able to play the shot easily, and, if you do that you will be much less liable to slice or push the ball out.

How the pushed-out ball and the slice occur, and how both these serious faults may be prevented, I will explain in another article.

WILDMAN WINS

Grove, in his first season owing to his wildness but last year he was better and he looks for a big time this year. Grove is said to be the nearest approach to the famous Rube Waddell that has gone up to the major leagues.

EVELYN SELBIE IN CHARACTER ROLE IN "ROSE OF TENEMENTS"

Due to her tremendous success in a characterization in "Flame of the Argentine," an F. B. O. production, selected Evelyn Selbie to create the role of "Sara Kaminsky" in "Rose of the Tenements."

"Rose of the Tenements" is the screen feature this week at the Playhouse Theatre with Shirley Mason starring and Johnny Harron heading the support cast. Phil Rosen, whose directional successes include "Abraham Lincoln," was selected to bring this picturization of John Moroso's novel, "The Stumbling Herd," to the screen.

JOHN BARRYMORE IN "DON JUAN" IS VARIETY SHOWING

There is much discussion as to the pronunciation of the name "Don Juan," now that Warner's spectacular feature picture of that name, starring John Barrymore, is being shown at the Variety Theatre.

Lord Byron, whose "Don Juan" is most generally known, rhymed the word with "drewn-on"; not because he did not know the Spanish pronunciation but because he preferred the Anglicized form. The English follow this lead and cultivated Englishmen pronounce the word "Jewon."

The Spanish, of course, call it "whan." All of which leads to the conclusion that one may say "Don Jewan" or "Don Whan, and be right.

DUTCH COMEDIAN PLAYS ROLE WELL IN DOMINION FILM

Fred Gambold, one of the first Dutch comedians of the stage, is at it again on the screen. He plays the Dutch innkeeper in Marion Davies's new Cosmopolitan starring vehicle, "The Red Mill," which is now appearing at the Dominion. "The Red Mill" is a comedy romance of Holland adapted from the Victor Herbert stage hit. Included in the cast are Owen Moore, Louise Fazenda, Snitz Edwards, Russell Powell, Kari Dane, William Orlamond and others. It is a picturesque romance of Holland and was produced at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio.

TOM MIX MAKES DARING RESCUE IN "LAST TRAIL"

Tom Mix, playing the role of Tom Dane, in his latest Fox Films drama, a version of Zane Grey's famous Western novel, "The Last Trail," which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre, rescues a white girl from the camp of the Sioux Indians, who are on the warpath in their last efforts to drive the white men from the buffalo hunting grounds of the Dakotas.

Mounted on Tony, his sure-footed horse, Mix, followed by Lee Shumway, playing an army scout, dashes into camp, rescues the girl and races away. The race and the fight continues to the gates of the stockade, where soldiers see the dash of the gallant horsemen, open the gates and turn their rifles loose.

"THREE HOURS" AT CAPITOL IS GREAT EMOTIONAL FILM

"Three Hours," First National picture starring Corinne Griffith, capably supported by John Bowers and Hobart Bosworth in an unusually fine cast, is this week proving a strong attractions at the Capitol Theatre.

Miss Griffith, as the victim of an unjust and unreasonably jealous husband, who divorces her on purely circumstantial evidence, taking her child from her, gives one of the greatest emotional performances of her career.

Hobart Bosworth gives a powerful and convincing portrayal of the cruel husband, and Bowers is idealy cast as the friend in need.

The vaudeville attractions this week at the Capitol Theatre are varied and entertaining. They include More and Francis, noted Fancho and Marco artists in a song and musical comedy presentation; Beatrice Nelson, soprano, in song selections, and the Harmony girls with Frank Smith in a song and dance specialty.

FIFTEEN BEAUTIES ON SCREEN NEXT WEEK AT DOMINION

The biggest fashion show this side of Paris, France, arrives in Victoria next Monday, when Esther Ralston's first Paramount starring vehicle "Fashions For Women" opens at the Dominion Theatre.

The picture is said to brim over with more youth, romance, comedy and up-to-the-minute gowns than have been seen since "The Dressmaker From Paris." In all, more than a score of complete outfits, designed especially by Travis Banton, one of the world's most noted style creators, are worn by a bevy of fifteen beautiful mannequins in a colorful fashion show sequence.

The story of "Fashions For Women" was adapted for the screen by Herman Mankiewicz and Jules Furthman from the famous stage success "The Girl of the Hour." It was scenarized by Percy Heath.

SCREEN VERSION OF "MICHAEL STROGOFF" SPECTACULAR DRAMA

The coming to the Capitol Theatre next week of the Universal-Film de France picturization of Jules Verne's famous old melodrama, 'Michael Strogoff," will undoubtedly awaken the fondest of memories among the men and women of Victoria who witnessed it as a stage play in years gone by.

Dramatized fifty years ago by the author, Jules Verne, and Adolphe D'Ennery, it became popular in all parts of the world where there was a theatre, or even a town hall. The hero, Michael Strogoff, the courier of the Czar, has a heroic part indeed and one well calculated to win the lasting affection and remain fixed in the memory of the audience.

This, the first filming of the popular book and play, will surely appeal to its old admirers, as it is presented on a scale impossible to the limitations of the stage, and which dwarfs even the famous Kiralfy spectacles, in their day the pinnacle of theatrical splendor. Ivan Moskine, a European screen idol, has the title role.

The story from which the above scene was taken was written by Jules Verne, well-remembered writer of "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," and "Round the World in Eighty Days." Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, April 22 (By R. P. Clark and Co).—General Motors sold at a new high level to-day. There were other strong spots among the high-priced issues suc has Atchison, American Smelting, Dupont, Baldwin, St. Louis, S. F. common and General Electric, but many of them followed the course of the main body of stocks in the late dealings. In the oils, Marland was a soft spot, reflecting the unfavorable statement, credited to President Marland, also others in this section were effected by the same influence and the increase reported in the Seminols pool published this a.m.

The news showed little change, except where it affects special issues. Omission of the dividend on Electric Refrigeration accounted for pressure on this stock, also the expectancy of an extra dividend rate by General Motors in the present quarter is accounting for active buying of that stock.

The market continues to be more or less of a specialty affair in so far as bullish operations are concerned. The major portion of the list seems to encounter liberal selling on minor bulges which leads to the conviction in conservative quarters that that distribution is being conducted on favorable opportunities.

New York, April 22 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct Wall Street wire)—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says: Action of the main body of stocks throughout the session demonstrated that great satisfaction existed in high banking circles regarding money conditions irrespective of what steps are taken about the rediscount reduction. General Motors engaged in another violent uprush followed by DuPont, General Electric, Macy, Case Threshing and American Radiator. In the railroad department a new high for its entire history was reached by Atchison while old line stocks, like Delaware and Hudson and B. and O., sold at the best prices attained since before the war.

Some profit-taking came into the leaders in the late afternoon, but the recessions from the day's highs were not important. Oil shares displayed renewed weakness, moving downward under the leadership of Marland, which broke to new low ground for the year.

Selling was started by the statement of President Marland that companies engaged extensively in the production of oil and casinghead gasoline were losing money in those branches of the industry, while the marketing departments of the petroleum trade were put in a similar plight by a very expensive price war.

Bearish professionals were thrown into urgent retreat by the appearance of powerful demand in many sections of the list around noon. Delaware and Hudson was a feature of pronounced strength in the railroad group, rising to the highest levels reached since 1907.

To-day's Mining Markets

VICTORIA STOCK EXCHANGE

With a general slump on in the local markets, L. & L. Glacier was a firm feature, climbing up in Vancouver to close at 11.

Coast Copper slumped again, with the appearance that all the enthusiasm on the long side has spent itself for a while. It broke in Vancouver down to 12.75. The fact that heavy costs are piling up at the mine and it will be years before there is any chance of dividends on the present stock issue, is said to be responsible for the disinclination to buy the stock except at very much lower levels.

George Copper and Sunloch were both offered down to 80, with no buying at that level.

Rufus is still holding under 10, which will be the high point until the stock issued to the shareholders on that basis is cleaned up.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKET

Winnipeg, April 22.—Heavy selling, principally by commission houses, influenced a mild reaction in wheat prices here to-day. Outside news tended to the bullish side, but there was not sufficient demand to stabilize value. Final quotations were fractionally below Thursday's closing prices, with May ⅞ o: at 141¾; July ⅜ lower at 139⅝ and October ½ lower at 129½. Fair support developed on the extreme break, which carried prices down about 1⅛, considerable business being credited to houses with seaboard connections.

Flax was the most active of the coarse grain futures. Barley lost about two cents and the other commodities were dull.

Chicago, April 22 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct pit wire)—Weather conditions over the Winter wheat belt overnight were much more favorable. The hard freeze prediction failed to materialize and with profit-taking and local commission houses pressure, prices declined around one cent from yesterday's finish.

Support was lacing for a time, but the selling was absorbed by resting orders and buyers of bids which checked the decline, and later there was a fair rally on short covering Undertone, however, generally heavy and the rallies were not impressive.

Crop comments from the southwest were more favorable, and there were very few complaints of damage due to the freeze of previous day.

Export demand much slower with sales around 1,230,000 bushels, mostly Manitobas reported in all positions. Forecast was for generally fair and warmer weather over entire Winter wheat belt with increasing cloudiness in the northwest.

Corn and oats averaged lower with scattered liquidation on in May corn. Trade in the aggregate was not large. Eastern shipping demand remains very slow, but the trade looks for another fairly good reduction to be shown in the visible supply on Monday.

Liverpool is due to open ⅛ to ¼ lower Saturday.

B.C. SILVER OPENS BIG NEW ORE BODY

Stewart, April 22. — Major C. B. North, manager of the B.C. "Silver, was in town this week and reports that the property never looked so well, better ore than ever being encountered on the No. 4 level.

A crosscut was droven from hte bottom of the shaft, 170 feet in a northwesterly direction, to what has been considered the big low-grade ore body. Drifting on this for over 400 feet, a splendid shoot has been opened up at an additional depth of 175 feet, with high-grade milling ore throughout its entire length, having a width of about fifteen feet.

SUGAR

New York, April 22—The raw sugar market was unchanged early to-day, but the undertone was unsettled by the action of the futures market. Nearby Cubas were available at last paid prices of 4.90, duty paid, but buyers were interested only in shipment sugars, with a sale reported at 21,000 bags of Philippines and mid-June arrival at 4.93.

No further changes were reported in the refined market, but demand was less active. Fine granulated is quoted from 6.00 to 6.20.

New Zealand Butter Invades Saskatchewan

Regina, April 22.—Reginans today are getting their first chance to try New Zealand butter. A carload, roughly 20,000 tons, is being distributed for sale in the various stores by the several creameries. Except for a few pounds imported last October, the shipment is the first ever brought in Saskatchewan, a province that has in late years come rapidly to the front in the production of butter.

Unseasonable weather conditions were directly responsible for the shipment brought in to bolster up the local supply, which was seriously short. Production in all parts of the province is reported far below normal by men in the dairy business.

J. A. Calder, president and general manager of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, stated today that under the most favorable conditions Canada would not have an exportable surplus before the middle of June, whereas in ordinary years export would start May 1.

DUNWELL SHIPMENTS LINE STEWART STREET

Stewart, April 22. — Operations at the Dunwell are proceeding very smoothly. Upwards of twenty tons of wet concentrates are being produced daily. These are in three grades, lead, zinc and table; the last named, which carry a high gold content, are being retained at the mill for the present, but the lead and zinc products, which carry good values in silver and some gold, are being shipped, 200 tons going out last week to Vancouver, and an equal amount being either at the wharf or in transit.

Great piles are stacked along the main street of Stewart, it being necessary to transfer here from sleighs to wagons and trucks.

With the Dunwell putting shipments on the wharf, in addition to the previous freight that went over it, the capacity of the structure is overtaxed and this is another reason for leaving a portion of the shipments ashore until loading of the freight steamers commences. At present the shipments will be stored in Vancouver until a determination is made by the company as to the smelter to which they will be sent.

LAILA

A Tale of the Days of Christ, by John Newport

(Copyright, 1926, by Eugene MacLean)

Antonius slid downward until he was stretched at full length upon the floor, his head pressed against the door.

"Do not talk any more," he ordered. "I'm going to sleep."

Laila moved until her shoulders were braced by the angle of the walls, and finally her head dropped in slumber.

When morning came, Antonius stirred, and yawned noisily.

"Laila!" he said.

There was no answer. He looked about him. His head, instead of resting against the door, was close to the wall, two feet to one side of the doorway. The woman was gone.

"Jupiter!" he swore. Raising his voice, he called: "Laila!" He sat up and looked around him. There was only one door to the room. It stood slightly ajar. "She has run away again," he said, with indignation. "And she has moved me from where I lay, in my sleep!"

His hand fell upon the great cheese that he had taken from the farmer the evening before. Breaking a piece from it, he began to eat, hungrily.

As he finished the sizable morsel and reached for another, the door swung open. Laila entered, bearing a jar on her shoulder—a large and evidently a heavy one.

"Milk," she said, lowering it carefully to the ground.

"Where have you been?" Antonius demanded.

She did not answer, but went out of the room again. When she returned she carried a basket on her head laden with figs and olives and dried fish. This burden she set down beside the jar of milk.

Another journey produced earthen dishes and a smaller jar of wine.

"There!" she said, with satisfaction. "We shall breakfast. And when the day is further advanced I shall have some meat, which I have ordered from the butcher."

"Did you buy these?" he inquired, watching her as she arranged the dishes at his side.

She smiled, leisurely. "I bought them, but—" She left the sentence unfinished. "These fish will have to be soaked, and cooked," she said. "Do you want to wait?"

"Wait?" he said. "No!"

He took a handful of the figs and stuffed them into his mouth.

"Who were these fellows who came to the inn last night," he asked, taking a bowl of milk that she offered him.

Laila smiled again, her eyes veiled. "They are dressed as Persian traders," she said, slowly. "The words they used at the door last night were in the tongue of Parthia—I recognized it, from the days of my childhood. But—"

She stopped.

"Well, go on," he directed.

They are the men who carried you to the Jordan in a litter, and—"

He dropped his bowl of milk. "The Arabians?" he cried.

She nodded. "They are here in disguise. When I went out of the house this morning, I drew my mantle across my face. The first man I saw was the chief who ordered me bound and gagged, in the gully yonder in Gilboa."

She bared her teeth. "If I could have thrust my knife into him, I'd have done it—and gladly."

Antonius reached to the door, swung it shut, and barred it. Then he resumed his eating, thoughtfully. "What do they want, I wonder?" he said. "They will remember me."

Laila laughed a little. "I gave them a reason to remember me, also," she said. "They built a fire in the centre of the courtyard, and were eating and drinking. So I went quietly into one of the rooms, and remover certain of their weapons, and went down into the market, where I found a trader from Tyre, and sold the weapons to him." She pointed to the food and drink. "So the Arabians provided our meal."

Antonius roared with laughter. "An excellent thought," he declared, pounding his sound leg with his fist. "A raid on the enemys country!" He rolled and choked as he considered the daring of the deed. "And did they see you?" he asked, at length.

"All they saw," said Laila, "was a woman flitting about the inn."

She dimpled with placid pleasure. "In my youth," she said, "My father entered the encampment of another tribe, at night, and alone, and bore away the chief's horse, and his gold, and all his raiment except what he wore. He was about to bear away the chief's wife, also, but his hold relaxed upon her throat, and she cried out. So he went away."

"Didn't the other tribe pursue?" the soldier asked.

"Surely," said Laila. "My father's men were lying in ambush, and slew many of them, and scattered the others."

Antonius sighed. "I wish I could have been there to take part," he said.

He finished his meal, and Laila brought him a basin of water, from the well in the inn yard, for his face and hands.

"Do you know," Antonius said, "I have a desire to speak with that Arabian chief?"

Laila handed him a cloth to dry his hands. "Didn't you say you turned on him, and tried to slay him, when the Roman soldiers found you by the Jordan?" she asked.

"Surely I did," he said, "and nearly succeeded."

"Then," she commented, dryly, "I think it would be better if you did not meet him."

Antonius bristled. "Why not—do you think I fear him?"

"Perhaps not," she said, "but it is possible that he came back here with his men on purpose to slay you."

The soldier drew forth his dagger and inspected it. "I wish that Aaron had not borne away my sword," he said, wistfully. "It was an excellent sword and had been wet with much good blood."

Laila went to the door and laid her hand upon the bar. "Wait," she told him.

She swung the heavy oak slab, and was gone, for a minute. Returning, one hand and arm were concealed inside her mantel. She closed the door carefully, and barred it.

"See?" she said, drawing forth her arm.

In her hand she held a long, curved blade, wrapper at one end with thongs of ox-hide. Antonius reached for it with intense satisfaction.

"A horseman's sword," he said, weighing it in his hand. "And keen—tempered, I think, in cold water."

He ran his finger along the edge.

"It is the chief's weapon," she informed him. "I hid it in the stable of the inn, before I went to sell the other things."

The soldier flourished the sword, and it whistled as the blade cut the air.

"Go and bring me this chieftain," he said. "I cannot speak his tongue so you must interpret for me. But allow no one but him to come in. I can fight one, with a broken leg, but more enemies might embarrass me."

Laila again unbarred the door and went out on her errand.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Bob Cat's Tail

Copyright, 1925, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Hurrah! Hurrah!" sang Dazie Wogglejig, as she danced around the bungleump one morning.

"Three cheers for the Lady Mouse Teacher!" cried her brother Wumple, tossing his yellow tail high in the air.

"Why are you all so joyful?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who had just looked in the glass to see that both his ears were on. For with the Wogglejigs taking off their legs and tails, to say nothing of turning their heads upside down, which they often did, the rabbit gentleman himself often feared that he would also become scrambled.

"We are happy because this is the last day of school for the week!" answered Dazie.

"No more classes until Monday!" shouted Bumble, trading one of his green legs for a white one with his sister Gazie.

"Couldn't you give us a little treat this afternoon when school is out?" asked Mazie.

"What sort of a treat?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Do you mean for me to take you to the six and seven cent store and buy you some candy?"

"That would be nice, but it would be nicer if you would take us to the woods and show us how to catch adventures," said Bumple politely.

"I'll do that," offered Mr. Longears. "It will be better for you than eating candy, though a little candy is good for children. So study your lessons well and perhaps the Lady Mouse Teacher will let you out a bit early this afternoon.

That is just what happened and about 3 o'clock Uncle Wiggily and the six Wogglejig children were on their way to the woods.

"I'm going to find the first adventure!" cried Dazie.

"I'm going to find two!" boasted Bumple.

"I shall be well satisfied if you find even half an adventure!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "Adventures are rather scarce of late."

The Wogglejig children rushed here and there under the trees and behind the bushes looking for things to happen. But not one could be found. Even the rabbit gentleman himself only found the teeniest sort of an adventure. He saw a honey bee that had fallen into the brook and helped the struggling insect out.

"Thank you!" buzzed the bee as he flew to his hive.

"If you see an adventure send it this way!" called Uncle Wiggily and the bee promised to do so.

"I guess we aren't going to find any adventures at all," sadly murmured Gazie as she came back to where Uncle Wiggily was sitting on a green, mossy log.

"Well, why don't you try to find some early Spring flowers to take home to Boppy and Um?" asked Mr. Longears. "I am sure the little wooden man and woman would like some violets."

"Where are any?" asked Bumple.

"Use your eyes and look," advised the rabbit.

The Wogglejig children were now as eager to find early blue violets as they had been anxious to seek adventures, and it was not long before, on a woodland bank, where the South sun had coaxed them up, they found a bed of violets.

While the Wogglejigs picked the flowers, Uncle Wiggily sat on a log and watched them, and it was just about this time that the Bob Cat, slithering through the woods, saw the rabbit gentleman.

"I'll slip up behind him and nibble his ears," thought the bad chap, for the rabbit had his back toward him. Softly and quietly the Bob Cat slithered up behind the bunny. When he was very close the Bob Cat sat down to make up his mind which ear to nibble first.

Then it was that Bumple Wogglejig saw the bad chap about to bite the rabbit gentleman. And, being a brave fellow, Bumple looked for some way to play a trick on the hungry animal.

Growing behind the Bob Cat was a Jack in the Pulpit, a sort of flower shaped like a pitcher. And as it had rained in the night, the flower pitcher was full of water. All of a sudden Bumple crept softly behind the Bob Cat, and, tipping Jack in the Pulpit over, spilled all the water in it on the Bob Cat's tail.

"Oh! Wow! Ouch! What's that? It must be raining!" howled the Bob Cat, as he felt his tail all wet! "Oh, It's raining and I have no umbrella. I'll nibble your ears after it stops raining, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Pray don't trouble yourself to come back!" chuckled the bunny gentleman as he saw the Bob Cat running away with his wet tail. Every one said Bumple was brave and clever to play such a trick on the Bob Cat. And if the goldfish doesn't put the rag doll to sleep on the pin cushion I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's scare crow.

SUICIDE IN ONTARIO

Toronto, April 22.—Apparently not long dead, the body of an unidentified young man was found hanging from a tree in a bush of East York Township yesterday. It is presumed from marks on the tree, he climbed up to one of the boughs, tied a short rope to it and around his neck, then jumped to his death. A watch in a pocket of the clothes was still running when the body was found.

Finders Quickly Introduced to Losers

A Lost and Found ad is a real peace-bringer! The anxious, worried loser of a valuable article, hoping that the finder is honest, advertises at once. Perhaps the finder—also anxious to quickly relieve the loser's natural anxiety, has advertised. In any event, the classified ad promptly introduces them to each other, and increases the world's stock of content, good will and faith in our fellow men!

Seattle Station To Award Prizes For Reception

Victoria radio fans who listen to this evening's broadcast over KPCB, Seattle, on 521 meters will have an opportunity to win several prizes.

To the radio fans outside of Seattle sending in the first ten telegrams reporting their programme, KPCB will give a merchandise order valued at $2.50 on any Pacific Coast Biscuit Company product.

This programme will be perhaps one of the finest produced over any radio station on the Pacific Coast, and as far as can be ascertained, is the first time that a combination of both string and wind instruments has been used as a means of entertainment to radio fans. Miss Betty Anderson, the soloist for this group, is a soprano of high merit who has appeared over KOA Denver, WEAF New York City, and has returned to Seattle at this time to continue her radio work.

COOLIDGE APPEALS TO U.S. PEOPLE TO AID FLOOD VICTIMS

sippi River yesterday, Judge R. C. Trimble told the Associated Press.

Thousands of persons were frantically piling sandbags at Stops Landing when the levee caved in, Judge Trimble said, and he was sure a number of them, all negroes, were swept away. The speed of the torrent was so great that recovery of the bodies would be impossible for many days, he declared.

The main line Mississippi River levee at Knowlton, Ark., just south of Laconia Circle, broke before the flood reached here yesterday, it was authoritatively reported here. The swamping of the government ship Pelican, with the drowning of eighteen persons aboard, was also reported, but this remained unconfirmed. The Knowlton Levee is in the same locality and opposite the crevasse at Stops Landing.

that he held this position. Carlow declared further that he had called Mr. Hinchliffe out of the Legislature to urge him to press the sale of the highway devices to the Government. Mr. Hinchliffe had submitted no bill for his work on this occasion.

CONSERVATIVES OFFERED MONEY

R. H. Pooley, Opposition Leader, promised to try to loan him $1,000 to carry on a suit against the Government, Carlow swore. Mr. Pooley, however, had not advanced this money, apparently because he could not raise it, said witness.

Later, he said, H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., offered him $1,000 when the present affidavit was under preparation but he refused it.

"It would have looked as if I were selling something," he replied when asked why he did not take Mr. Twigg's money.

"I had nothing to sell," he added.

"But you were willing to take money from Mr. Pooley?" Mr. Farris asked.

"That was a loan," Carlow replied.

"So you sit yourself up on a higher standard than Mr. Twigg?" Mr. Farris demanded. "He was willing to buy but you were not willing to sell."

"I didn't think much about it," said Carlow when he was asked what he thought of the propriety of Mr. Twigg's offer.

Mr. Farris then turned the cross-examination to Carlow's liquor dealings with the Government and filed several letters passing between Carlow and British distillers in regard to his commissions.

J. B. Pattullo, K.C., counsel for the Government, asked Carlow how his present affidavit had been prepared. Mr. Twigg drew up this document not in Carlow's presence, said witness.

INSERTED BY TWIGG

Mr. Pattullo read Carlow's declaration that Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, had insisted that M. B. Jackson, K.C., be satisfied in the handling of an alleged commission on a Vancouver foreshore deal. Carlow admitted that this statement was not contained in his first declaration, but was inserted in the second affidavit by Mr. Twigg.

"After my statement was fully completed I went through it and I said to Mr. Twigg and Mr. Lowe, 'There is one thing I left out.' It was this point," Carlow testified. He added that he had given the foreshore statement verbally to Mr. Twigg, who had inserted it in the affidavit finally used.

George Cowan, K.C., counsel for Mr. Twigg, questioned Carlow about his earnings in 1921, which were questioned by Government counsel.

Mr. Twigg proceeded to compile a statement of Carlow's income from a notebook which witness produced. Prior to becoming Liberal organizer here in 1922, he said, his income had been large from real estate sales. When he became organizer he dropped his private business and at that time his bank account stood at twenty-six cents. To show what funds he had received from liquor profits, Carlow read from his bank book a statement showing a deposit of $2,327.50, representing the commission on a sale of 1,000 cases of House of Lords whisky to the Government.

When Mr. Cowan referred to this as "profits on secret liquor business," Mr. Farris objected emphatically to this form of questioning.

"I can well visualize my friend (Mr. Cowan) standing on the public platform later and using those words," Mr. Farris protested.

COWAN WARNED

"No honorable man would destort the evidence," the Commissioner remarked.

"I recall similar occurrences in the case of other commissions," said Mr. Farris.

"Well, I won't go into that," said the Commissioner, asking Mr. Cowan to be more careful in the form of his questions.

Mr. Cowan then read a letter from Whitley & Compay, British distillers to Carlow, agreeing to raise his liquor commissions to ten shillings a case, but protesting that this would wipe out most of the firm's profits. The distillers also urged that the sale of their brands be pressed ahead, not forgetting employees of the Government liquor stores. Mr. Cowan also read a letter from Carlow to the distilling firm in which Carlow urged the company not to have any correspondence with the Government purchasing agent in regard to commissions.

Mr. Cowan then asked Carlow what his liquor commissions were to be used for. Witness replied that the money was to be expended for political organizer's work. All the money was so used, he swore, and to support his statement produced cheques which he issued to various people. Some of these cheques, covering stenographer's wages, rent and other expenses incurred in the organization work were filed as exhibits. Most of them were issued in 1924 and 1923, Mr. Cowan indicated that he would call people who had received these cheques, to support Carlow's statement that they had been issued.

SINNOTT CALLED

P. J. Sinnott, Victoria solicitor, was then called. He testified that Carlow had come to him July 27, 1926, alone. Carlow said Mr. Pooley would tell Mr. Sinnott what he wanted. Mr. Sinnott telephoned Mr. Pooley who subsequently met him and Mr. Carlow in Mr. Sinnott's office. He identified as correct a copy of the original Carlow affidavit, which Mr. Twigg later digested. This copy had been filed by Mr. Farris. The original of the copy had been returned to Carlow, Mr. Sinnott said.

Mr. Sinnott recalled that in swearing his original statement Carlow told him he had other information which he would produce later. Mr. Sinnott wanted to have the facts, he explained, before proceeding with the case which Carlow intended to launch to secure money said to be due him from Henry C. Hall, K.C.

Cross-examined by Mr. Farris, Mr. Sinnott said Mr. Pooley had advised him to proceed with his suit. Carlow told witness that he required money for his immediate needs and there was a suggestion that the Conservative Party should put up $500 or $1,000 to help Carlow and pay his legal expenses. This arrangement was discussed with Mr. Pooley, Mr. Sinnott said.

"Mr. Pooley was supposed to get the money?" asked Mr. Farris.

"Yes," said Mr. Sinnott.

"Carlow demurred at signing his affidavit until he got the money?"

"No, but he demurred at turning over the documents before he got the money."

"He didn't hold up his hands in holy horror at the suggestion of anyone giving him money?"

"Oh, no, not at all."

Mr. Sinnott recalled further that Carlow came to him and asked for the return of all his documents. When the Gauthier charges were before the Legislature Carlow told him he had turned over his papers to R. C. Lowe, who was "one of those Liberals interested in having clean government."

When Mr. Twigg laughed at this, Mr. Farris remarked with a smile: "I have no objection to Mr. Lowe, Mr. Twigg and Carlow being associated in an effort to get clean government."

Mr. Sinnott denied that he had taken any part in destroying any documents. He did not know, he said, that the original Carlow affidavit had been destroyed.

Carlow had denied that he owed Mr. Hall any money, Mr. Sinnott said Mr. Hall told Mr. Sinnott that Carlow's claims against him were ridiculous and suggested that before launching a suit he should see John Hart, and members of the Government, whom Carlow mentioned as responsible for money owed to him. Mr. Hall stated further that Carlow owed him money and repudiated all liability to Carlow.

"My inference from Mr. Hall's statement was that Carlow had done work for the Liberal Party," said Mr. Sinnott.

GLAD TO GET RID OF THEM

Questioned by Mr. Twigg, Mr. Sinnott told how he had handed back Carlow's documents to him. He did not know whether he had taken a receipt from Carlow or not. Asked whether he did not consider the Carlow documents important enough to justify a receipt, Mr. Sinnott replied:

"Really I didn't think there was much to the claim, and that's why I handed back the documents, and I was glad to get rid of them."

Carlow, he added, never paid him for his services, but there was an account against him in Mr. Sinnott's office. Mr. Sinnott said he had discussed the Carlow matter with many people, including Leo Menedez, secretary to Attorney-General Manson, whom he had acted for as a solicitor in other matters.

This discussion with Mr. Menedez took place at a dance in the Alexandra Club and was purely informal, said Mr. Sinnott.

CARLOW RECALLED

Carlow was then recalled to tell more about his disbursements as Liberal organizer. He told how he paid for music at some large Liberal balls and described the Liberal orchestra under Bert Zala. The members of the orchestra, he swore, had been given jobs in Government liquor stores on the understanding that they would supply music free at Liberal functions.

When Mr. Cowan went on to ask whether all members of the orchestra had been given Liquor Board jobs on the understanding that they supply music free, Mr. Farris objected emphatically. Mr. Cowan, he said, was making a political speech, but the Commissioner overruled this objection and Mr. Cowan went on with his examination.

The orchestra performed absolutely without payment, said Carlow, except that $1 was allowed the drummer for transporting his drum on each occasion.

The Liberal orchestra performed about once a week during his two years as president of the Liberal Association, said Carlow. Since then, he understood, this practice had been discontinued. He explained that his disbursements for music referred to before, were for infrequent large dances in the Armories, where the musicians were paid.

LIQUOR COMMISSION

Questioned about his liquor commissions, Carlow said he treated this money as the property of the Liberal Party.

At this point the inquiry adjourned for luncheon.

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

"The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel"

(Copyright)

SATURDAY, APRIL 23

This is rather an unimportant day in planetary direction, according to astrology. Benefic aspects dominate.

Again the stars promise much to those who have solved the secret of winning all they desire in the world. The rich are to become richer in the next few years.

This is a day on which it is wise to plan new enterprises and to seek financial support for them.

It is read as a favorable rule under which to invest in real estate. The seers declare that all who are wise will possess land, for by and by this country is to be the centre of an immense population, a condition due to some sort of world upheaval that compels the United States to throw open its doors.

The old now come under a direction of stars that presages for them reverence and respect. Their knowledge and wisdom will be much sought.

Continued weather unusual to the Spring season may be expected with violent storms in many parts of the country.

This is read as an unlucky day for moving or for changes of any sort. It is not an auspicious date for starting journeys.

Under this sway friends may be as changeable as the weather and for this reason it is wise to be chary of confidences.

More contention regarding oil and oil leases may be expected in the coming months when new resources will be discovered.

Mining booms may cause excitement, but the real bonanzas of the year will come through scientific discoveries that release hitherto unsuspected values, the seers declare.

New interest in African and Chinese securities will inspire speculation, it is forecast.

Precious stones as well as precious metals will be found in fields not previously explored, the seers prognosticate, and more Americans will be enrolled among the millionaires, it is prophesied.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of peace in which it will be most unwise to borrow trouble.

Children born on this day may have certain psychic gifts. Both boys and girls may be keenly awake to romance.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Customs, Quarantine Offices and Residence, William Head, B.C.," will be received until 12 o'clock noon (daylight saving), Wednesday, May 4, 1927, for the construction of Customs, Quarantine Offices and Residence at William Head, B.C.

Plans and specification can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the offices of the Chief Architect, Department of Public Works, Ottawa, and the Resident Architect, Department of Public Works, Victoria, B.C.

Blue-prints can be obtained at the office of the Chief Architect, Department of Public Works, by depositing an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $10.00 payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, which will be returned if the intending bidder submit a regular bid.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with the conditions set forth therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, equal to 10 p.c. of the amount of the tender. Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or bonds of the Canadian National Railway Company will also be accepted as security, or bonds and a cheque if required to make up an odd amount.

By order,
S. E. O'BRIEN,
Secretary.
Department of Public Works,

BREAK THAT MADE $10,000 FIRE LOSS SHOWN AS EXHIBIT

Costly Mistakes Which Caused Fire in Victoria Homes to be Shown at Armories

Show Card Contest Stirs Interest as Citizens Take Part

Defective electrical apparatus which caused a $10,000 fire in a Victoria building will be shown at the Home Products Exhibition, opening at the Armories Monday, in one of the most unique displays in the interests of the safe use of electricity. The display is being staged by S. L. Wilson, City Wiring Inspector, and will be one of the drawing cards of the show.

On the practical side of the display the wiring inspector will show wooden fittings used in the old type electrical lighting; bridged fuse block which led to actual fires and heavy loss; the common mistakes of faulty house wiring; and the dangers of misuse of portable electrical appliances.

GIVE MONEY AWAY

To hold the interest of patrons so that they will spend some time at the educational features of the display, Mr. Wilson will have a number of entertaining features at his booth. In the bottom of a bowl of water will be a rare coin which all will be welcome to pick up, if they can.

Another shocking episode will be a bathroom fitting, the water faucet and electric light combination. This, under the ordinary house circumstances would be highly dangerous, and the display will be conducted with an innocuous current, sufficient to be felt but not to do damage. The same booth will show a section of wall partition charred by fire, and a wire glowing to a white heat under faulty wiring circuits. On a panel arranged with their faults, will be a clever display of incorrect wiring, soldered-over fuses, wooden fittings, and a few of the elements which taken from actual houses in Victoria have at one time or another led to outbreaks of fire, or highly dangerous conditions.

While it is a serious lesson that will be told in the display by the wiring inspector, the exhibit has been so arranged that the booth will be one of the merrymaking events of the show.

B. C. HENS ON TOP

Something of the tremendous strides made by the egg production industry in this Province will be shown in a display under Federal auspices. From November to March last British Columbia shipped out 68 cars of eggs. Production on Vancouver Island climbed forty per cent in the same time. In the season 1925-26 Vancouver Island shipped 3,000 cases of eggs to the eastern markets, while this has grown in the last season to 10,000 cases.

Not many realize that in the world's contest for hens that lay 300 eggs a year or better, British Columbia took nineteen ranking places out of a total of thirty-six from all points in the world. British Columbia hens took first and second places, competing with advantage over entries from the United States, Australia and other countries. From 1919 to this year the proportion of high-production hens in British Columbia has risen until it leads all Canada. Vancouver Island breeders are playing a big part in this work. While these points will be of interest to the poultry breeders, the exhibit at the Exhibition will also have much of interest for the housewife, showing the candling of eggs and many points to look for in buying.

SHOW CARD CONTEST

Excellent entries in the show card contest are beginning to pour in to the committee. As the contest offers $50 in cash prizes for slogan, drawings or ideas no matter how expressed, the competition has taken a big hold on the city, and entries are expected from every home. Entrants are asked to supply an answer to the question "Why should I buy made-in-Victoria goods?" The entries will be displayed all week long at the Armories, after Monday, and the best ideas will be taken to launch the buy-at-home campaign on a definite, all year round basis.

NEW INVENTIONS

An exhibit of hydraulic jacks, patented by a local concern and to be shown for the first time at the exhibition, a complete exhibit of radio and auto batteries manufactured in Victoria from start to finish, a new gas furnace for home heating that is said to revolutionize the efficiency of this type of heating are a few of the surprises in store for patrons of the exhibition. A wonderful display of the aid to industries of electric power in unlimited quantities will also be featured.

Everyone who pays the nominal admission to enter the fair will have an equal opportunity of becoming the owner of a choice residential homesite in the famous Burleith subdivision at the Gorge, donated by the city in the interests of the buy-at-home campaign.

Throughout all departments the Home Products Exhibition this year is the result of united effort on the part of the Chamber of Commerce committee and the business interests of the city and environs. The exhibition will be a revelation to the home owner in every particular, ranging from the best methods of gardening to the bread in the bread bin of the model kitchen.

CARLOW SAYS TWIGG OFFERED HIM LARGE SUM FOR CHARGES

Pressed to explain how these gentlemen came to be present, Carlow told of a meeting with Mr. Lowe and Dr. Davies. At this conference Mr. Lowe suggested that Mr. Twigg be called in. Carlow raised no objection to Mr. Pooley and Mr. Twigg attending and, accordingly, they appeared.

When the affidavit was dictated no one but himself was present with the stenographer, he said, but he finally added under close questioning that his statement had been "digested" by Mr. Twigg. Mr. Twigg's digest was the document subsequently produced in the Legislature. Mr. Twigg, said the witness, deleted some of the details of the first statement as dictated by Carlow. The digested affidavit was sworn before H. L. Beckwith so it could be taken immediately before the Legislature.

Carlow said he did not know Dr Davies's politics but he understood him to be independent.

ON POOLEY'S ADVICE

Under further examination, Carlow testified that it was Mr. Pooley who had advised him to retain a solicitor and proceed through the courts to collect his claims upon the Liberal Party.

Carlow said he had always been a Liberal and was a Liberal now, although not a supporter of the Oliver Government. He had never been a Conservative, he stated. When Mr. Pattullo quoted from a history of British Columbia containing a biography of Carlow and calling him a Conservative, witness said, this false reference to him was inserted by a printer. The biography was compiled by a Mr. Dunford, a leading Conservative, who had been employing him, witness said.

Carlow denied that he had received any reward for swearing out his affidavit.

"I was offered $1,000 and refused it," he said.

"Who offered you that?" asked Mr. Pattullo.

"Mr. Twigg in Mr. Lowe's office," he replied, explaining that he had refused this offer. He had no hope of reward in his present charges, he said.

Witness went on to tell how he had sworn out an affidavit to be used by P. J. Sinnot in a civil suit to secure what he considered due to him.

The cross-examination then turned to the Vancouver foreshore lease which is a leading feature of Carlow's charges. Witness told how he had met L. G. Thomas of Vancouver, by arrangement in Vancouver. Thomas asked him to use his good offices to secure a foreshore lease and witness agreed to look into the matter. In Victoria Carlow interviewed officials on the Lands Department in an effort to secure the lease for Thomas. Mr. Cathcart of the Lands Department told him that there was very little chance of him getting the lease as a lease on the same property had been refused to M. B. Jackson, K.C., a year previously.

"Do you realize that paragraph 27 of your declaration is the only reflection on the Lands Department and you only have your word to support it?" Mr. Pattullo asked.

"One has a right to give his word, hasn't he?" Carlow replied.

It was brought out in further cross-examination that in the original affidavit sworn out by Carlow for his solicitor no mention was made of interviews with Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, which, however, were mentioned in the latest affidavit, digested by Mr. Twigg and sworn out for use of Conservative members of the Legislature. Carlow denied emphatically that these references were inserted at the suggestion of anyone as he had dictated the affidavit himself.

Asked about his statement that he and Mr. Jackson had made an agreement, whereby they were to split a commission paid by Thomas for his foreshore lease, Carlow added that Mr. Jackson had not taken any of this money.

"I don't think Mr. Jackson was enamoured of the idea at all," he testified. "He finally told me to get what I could for his (Thomas's) note and not worry about him."

J. W. deB. Farris, K.C. then commenced to cross-examine Carlow. Witness admitted that he had done wrong in his political operations, but he had wanted Liberals generally to understand the true facts of his position.

Carlow admitted further that at one time, while he was seeking liquor orders from the Government, he had given the Liberal Association here "some political whitewash" to re-assure it that he was making no money out of liquor. This he had done to protect other people, he testified.

Mr. Farris questioned Carlow closely about a judgment against him in 1921 which witness said he had not settled. In 1923 he was brought before the courts on another judgment, which he settled. Asked whether he swore on this occasion that he had had no income but $100 for the last four months, witness refused to deny or confirm this statement.

"I wouldn't have told the court about this dirty liquor deal," he said.

"Then you suppressed the amounts of over $2,000 paid by the Liberal Party?" asked Mr. Farris.

"I possibly did," witness replied.

"Did you spend any of this money yourself?"

"I possibly did."

"Then you suppressed that fact before the Judge?"

"I wouldn't say that. I settled the judgment."

"I'm not concerned with the judgment. I'm concerned with your veracity," said Mr. Farris.

Asked how he justified his statement to the court that he had received an income of only $100 in four months, witness replied that he was always behind as far as his relations with the Liberal Party were concerned. He did not consider he had made false statements.

In answer to Mr. Farris Carlow then recalled how he had gone to James Paterson, Government Purchasing agent, early this year and tried to sell him liquor.

He told Mr. Paterson, he said, that he wanted to make some money so he could go to Washington and secure certain business agencies.

"I said I didn't want to be put in the position of exposing the Liberal Party in the investigation which I heard was to come off," he swore. "I said I wanted to be out of here when the investigation came on."

"You succeeded in your object," he said. "Do you think I would know the truth about these things would go into thin air if you got an order?" asked Mr. Farris.

"I presume they would if I got a settlement," witness replied. "Maybe I would have told them afterwards."

Mr. Farris then went over Carlow's previous evidence regarding his sales of liquor to the Government. Carlow testified that when Purchasing Agent Paterson gave him an order for 1,000 cases of liquor he had given him an unsealed envelope containing an order to the British distillers. In this Carlow placed a covering letter and mailed the envelope himself. This was Mr. Paterson's usual method of procedure, Carlow declared.

In the course of the investigation Carlow drew from Mr. Justice Morrison a sharp instruction to volunteer all the information he possessed and not to fence with Mr. Farris. This led to a somewhat acrimomous argument between counsel, witness and the commissioner over questions asked by Mr. Farris. In the end counsel came to an understanding over documents which Carlow said supported his allegations and these were handed over to Mr. Farris by Mr. Twigg for examination.

Asked whether he had any documents to support this allegations against John Hart, Carlow produced a brief note signed by Mr. Hart, introducing a friend to Carlow. Mr. Hart's desire was to secure a job for this friend, said Carlow. Another letter from Mr. Hart referred to the placing of a James Murray in the Provincial Civil Service. So far as Carlow knew, these were the only documents available in connection with Mr. Hart.

Asked what documents related to Hon. J. D. MacLean, Carlow replied that he had no documents which affected Dr. MacLean directly. He produced a letter written by Dr. MacLean to him but this was put in as evidence without being read.

R. H. Pooley, Opposition Leader in the Legislature, suggested an adjournment so that all letters could be straightened out.

"Yes," remarked His Lordship, "it's wonderful what you can find when you look for it."

This brought Mr. Pooley angrily to his feet with the retort: "I hope you are not suggesting that I'm not doing everything in my power to assist this commission! I have my rights here as well as you have!"

"I think you've forgotten yourself, Mr. Pooley," Mr. Justice Morrison replied reprovingly.

"I have forgotten myself—I admit it," said Mr. Pooley.

"I accept your apology," the commissioner answered. "You're not in the Legislature now, you know."

"I realize that," said Mr. Pooley and the incident closed.

In the end all Carlow's documents were put in as evidence without being read. A large sheaf of letters and papers were filed in this way.
